

BRICK DENIED CONFIRMATION; HE HAD REFUSED TO PLAY POLITICS of "Courtesy" Invoked in Senate in Ousting Chairman of St. Louis Police Board.

OTE 24 TO 10 WITH AID OF DEMOCRATS

Opposition Led by Senator William Maffit Bates in Behalf of Republican Organization of City.

Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SENATOR CITY, March 25.— C. Orrick, president of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners for two years under appointment from Gov. Baker, was confirmed yesterday by the Senate.

The rejection made finally succeeded a fight on him by organization of politicians in St. Louis, waged at the time he has been in office and based on his refusal to accept political demands in connection with his operation of the Police Department.

The rejection of Orrick, whose record has won the confidence of all save practical politicians, was in striking contrast with the Senate's action in confirming the Police Board, which committee of the Senate, after inquiring, had charged with mismanagement of the Penitentiary.

"Courtesy" Rule Invoked.
The rule of Senatorial "courtesy" invoked by Senator William Maffit Bates of St. Louis, which removed many efficient public men from office and retained others many unfit, was the basis of the fight to accomplish Or-rick's rejection.

Orrick, who resides at 320 Union street, is a resident of Bates' constituent district, and Bates, according to the Senate's action, invoked the rule of courtesy, which demanded that his personal name be placed on the list of candidates for the Senate. He had the three other St. Louis Senators—Warner, McGowan and Maffit—all lined up for him.

WOMAN'S HORSE, 10 YEARS OLD, WINS GRAND NATIONAL

AMERICAN ENTRY COMES IN THIRD

Prince of Wales's Choice, Thrown in, Among Thir-

Only 7 Contenders.

By the Associated Press.
AINTREE, England, March 25.—
A woman owner captured the Grand National here today for the first time, so far as can be recalled, in the history of the world's greatest steeplechase.

Spig, 10 years old, owned by Mrs. M. Partridge, won the hazardous four and one-half mile jumping race in which 37 started and only seven finished. G. W. Pennington's Boveril III was second.
The best of the Americans could get,
with seven entries, was third place, which went to Stephen Sanford's Bright's Boy. Bright's Boy led for part of the distance. The only other American-owned horse to finish was Master of Arts, belonging to M. Blair, which came in fifth.

Lord Stalbridge's Thrown In, which the Prince of Wales jocularly picked yesterday to win the race, was among the 30 horses which fell.

King George, many thousands of his subjects and the Prince of Wales were at the course for the dangerous and thrilling classic and were rewarded with much excitement because the big field was steadily thinned out as it passed over the obstacles. The long course was 10 miles, the longest in the world, which was jumped twice, besides ditches, water jumps, streams and other hazards.

The race enticed a Birmingham better by £24,500 (about $120,000)

ner of the Goodwood handicap on maker who lost the bet has a total of £150,000 to pay on the race.

Spig won by a length and a half and paid 8 to 1 in the betting.
The odds on Boveril III were 10 to 1, and Bright's Boy was quoted at 100 to 1.

$20,000 OFFERED FOR RIGHT GUESS ON ICE BREAKUP

Alaskans Trying to Forecast
Time When Tanana River Will Be Open Again.

NENANA, Alaska, March 25.—
Year by year the Northland's biggest sporting event—guessing when the annual breakup in the Tanana River will come—grows in dimensions and interest.

This year the person who forecasts the event most accurately as to time will receive a prize of approximately $20,000.

Each year a Citizens' Committee is formed to make arrangements for the event. Tickets are sold at $1 each to raise the sum that is awarded. The time of the breakup is electrically recorded on a clock in the town hall. Previously the breakup has come between April 22 and May 13.

In case of the guesses as to the exact minute of the first ice movement, the award is split evenly.

SWIMS CATALINA CHANNEL
IN 15 HOURS, 11 MINUTES
Kyle Leonard, on Third Attempt, Claims to Have Broken George Young's Record.

By the Associated Press.
LONG BEACH, Cal., March 25.—
Claiming to have lowered George Young's Catalina Channel swimming record, Kyle Leonard of Long Beach, today landed near here, 15 hours and 11 minutes after entering the water at Catalina Island. Young's time was 15 hours and 45 minutes.

Leonard, who is 23 years old, was accompanied by four observers who checked his time. At one time Leonard was seized with cramps and at another he was struck in the head by a floating timber. He ate three cakes of chocolate and drank three cups of cocoa during the swim. After landing he was taken to a hospital.

Leonard accomplished the channel feat on his third attempt. He was a participant in the Wrigley marathon and made a second attempt on Feb. 22.

ELEVEN BANKS OFFER TAX SETTLEMENT OF $1,750,000

Claim Against the National Depository Under Ad Valorem Levy
For Three Years Is $2,333,000.
Eleven national banks have offered to pay $1,750,000 in settlement of a claim for $2,333,000 for ad valorem taxes on the banks for the last three years. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment was advised today by Comptroller Nolte.

Acceptance of the offer was recommended by Edward W. Foristel, attorney for City Collector and Koch.
The board instructed Nolte to confer with Counselor Mitchee.

The offer represents 75 per cent of the tax claim, which has been in litigation in Federal Court. If accepted 45 per cent of the money would go into the general municipal revenue fund and 30 per cent into the fund for the city's share of $300,000 for the fiscal year ending April 1. Local schools would receive 30 per cent and the State would get the remaining 25 per cent.

The Circuit Court of Appeals last January ruled that the banks must pay the tax. The decision reversed an opinion of Federal Judge Faris against the tax.

NAVAL THREAT TO BOMBARD NANKING FACILITATES RESCUE OF FOREIGNERS

FORD UNMOVED BY SAPIRO'S CALL FOR RETRACTION

Right Stick to It," Editor Cameron Says Auto Man Told Him.

REED STINGS SAPIRO INTO HOT OUTBURST

Blue-Pencil Change in Manuscript Made Alleged Li-cial Jew."

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., March 25.— Aron Sapiro's demand upon the Ford-owned Dearborn Independent for a retraction made no difference in the weekly's editorial procedure.

William J. Cameron, editor, testified today in Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford.

Cameron testified that he laid Sapiro's demand before the automobile manufacturer, who is president of the publishing company also, and that Ford dismissed it with a wave of the hand, and the remark: "Well, if you are wrong, take it back; if you are right, stick to it."

Cameron testified that by numerous inquiries the alleged libelous articles were investigated before publication. He thought Fred L.
Black, business manager, initiated an investigation after receipt of Sapiro's demand for retraction. The editorial department made no investigation, said Cameron.

"We can and will prove that these articles were suspended until April 12, 1924, at Henry Ford's order," said Sapiro's counsel to the editorial department made no investigation, said Cameron.

A moment later, he referred to the subject again with "Ford did not discuss resumption of these articles."

Sapiro's counsel demanded some correspondence from the defense records, and, as he cited it, stopped on the way to the witness stand to confer with Sapiro.

"Here, here," exclaimed Stewart Hanley, Ford's counsel, with a rising inflection, "show that to the witness (Cameron), not to Sa-piro."

Senator Reed of Missouri, chief of Ford counsel, looked over at Sapiro and said something softly.
Sapiro hurled back a retort. Reed stood and addressed the Court. "I desire no controversy with the gentleman sitting at the table," he said.

Sapiro instantly was on his feet.
"I'd have the Senator understand that the gentleman sitting at the table is a member of counsel, just the same as he is," Sapiro said to Judge Raymond. "If the Senator addresses me, I have the right to reply."

The judge ended the dispute by calmly remarking, "I know of no question before the court."
The manuscript of the first of the articles to which Sapiro objected was introduced and it was brought out that Cameron, in reading it, had interlined in one place to limit the application of the remarks to "financial Jews" rather than all Jews.

Wrote Ford's Personal Column.
Counsel for Sapiro got from Cameron admissions today that he revoked Ford's personal column in that publication and that he and the motor manufacturer had discussed the international banking ring.

The plaintiff's counsel seemed to be getting a little more leeway today in his interrogation of the witness, but when Gallagher sought to get too deeply into Cameron-Ford conferences the defense attorneys interposed objection after objection until finally they got in one which, as usual, caused the jury to be sent out of the courtroom while they argued the law.

Gallagher once during the opening minutes of the session sought to discard Cameron as his own witness and resort to cross-examination. Federal Judge Fred M.
Raymond held, however, that having called Cameron, Gallagher was faced with inexcusable rule limitations of Gallagher's interrogation.

American Missionary Murdered At Nanking, U. S. Consul Reports

Attempts Made to Kill Many Others, Says
John K. Davis, Describing Own Escape
With Children to Socony Hill.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 25.—The murder of one American missionary and attempts to kill many others at Nanking were described in the report of United States Consul John K. Davis, received at the Navy Department today. The report, forwarded by Admiral Williams, American Asiatic fleet commander, told of the escape of Davis with "one officer, eleven sailors, nine civilians and two children."

The rescue of Davis was reported yesterday.

"On March 24, about noon, after both the Japanese and British consulates had been attacked and the consuls were reported killed, and after the known murder of one American missionary and the attempted murder of many others, all by Nationalist soldiers, the Chinese police told me that we would be destroyed unless we could escape," Davis said.

"Accordingly, our party of one officer, 11 sailors, nine civilians and two children escaped under constant fire across the country to the Socony houses on Standard Oil Hill, just above the city wall, which are visible from the river and where many Americans and British already were."

"Although repeatedly robbed and threatened by Nationalist soldiers, my vice consul (J. Hall Paxton of Danville, Va.), and the Socony manager managed to keep the Chinese out of the house for two hours, but they finally broke in, but, seeing our numbers, they retired and commenced firing at us in ever increasing numbers."

"The American and British naval vessels then dropped shells immediately around the house and we escaped over the wall. The United States consulate was forced by Nationalist soldiers and is reported by the Chinese as thoroughly looted. It has not been ascertained whether the safe has been forced and the codes lost."

Big Guns of American and British Warships Trained on Positions of the Cantonese.

MANY REFUGEES REACH DOCK SAFELY

Missioner Slain, Woman Shot—Most of Outrages Laid to Uniformed Southern Soldiers.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—Wanted destruction, vandalism and outrages, perpetrated by uniformed Cantonese troops in Nanking, are described in reports received tonight from the city on the Yangtze.

Approximately 20 Americans are yet unaccounted for. Thus far the only known American fatality is the death of Dr. J. E. Williams of Shawnee, O., a member of the Northern Presbyterian Mission and vice president of the Nanking University.

An ultimatum by the American and British naval commanders, backed by big guns trained on the Cantonese positions, has eased the position of the foreigners, and the first of the 120 American missionaries who took refuge in the university while yesterday's fighting was under way began arriving at the dock near the warships early tonight.

American Woman Wounded. One of them, a Miss Moffatt (Anna E. Moffatt of Fort Sheridan, Ill., is listed as being at Nanking) had been shot twice through the body.

American women were subjected to extreme brutality during the rioting. In many cases their clothing was partly torn off by the Chinese Nationalist soldiers.

Reports received that practically all the outrages, both against persons and property, were carried out by uniformed Nationalists, thus fixing the responsibility for the outbreak on the Southern forces.

There is reason to believe that the majority of American homes and mission properties in the city were looted and burned. It is known that the Nanking Theological Seminary and the Hillcrest School, valuable American mission properties, were destroyed by fire.

All the official and personal property at the United States Consulate was looted or destroyed by uniformed Nationalists.

A French priest is said to have been shot by a Nationalist officer. Not harmed on way to dock.

The vanguard of the missionaries arriving at the dock were without military escort, but it is stated that they were not molested while making the trip to the river. Whether the entire 120 are coming out has not been established.

Their appearance on the water front followed the ultimatum by the Anglo-American naval officers that if the foreigners were not permitted to leave the city the Cantonese positions would be bombarded.

It was stated authoritatively tonight that, as the result of negotiations between the Anglo-Americans and Chinese, there was no bombardment.

Gen. Pai Tsung-hai, Cantonese commander in Shanghai, interviewed at his headquarters here tonight, insisted that the Nationalists should not be blamed for the Nanking outrages. Fifty thousand Northern soldiers and from 2000 to 3000 White Russians were in Nanking shortly before the outbreak of fighting, he said.

The Northern retreat began Wednesday afternoon. The fleeing troops reached the river bank at Hsia-Kwan (the port section of Nanking) found the river transport inadequate and began an orgy of rioting, looting and burning.

Gen. Pai Hopes for Peace. Gen. Pai said he hoped the Nanking incident would be liquidated peacefully in a manner which would not inflame the Chinese against foreigners.

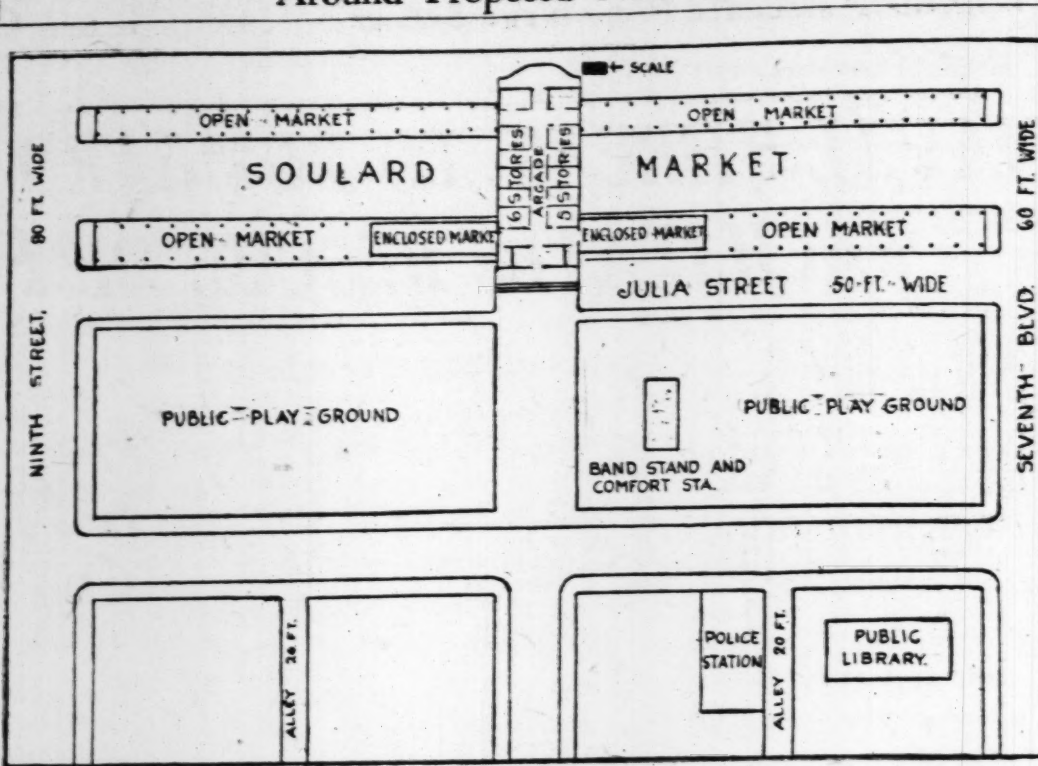

Advices at 5 o'clock had stated that there were 150 Americans in the city and 15 Britishers. Among the Americans were 44 women and 21 children.

American women in Nanking are reported to have been brutally treated by the Chinese. It is believed a majority of the American homes and mission properties there were destroyed by Cantonese soldiers.

Pai identified the Nationalist commander in Nanking as Chen Chien, one of the Nationalist's "big four" Generals. Pai complained that gangs of plain clothes gunmen dropped up wherever the Nationalist armies appeared, and said their suppression was one of the most difficult problems confronting the Southerners.

Pai did not visit the United States Consul-General, Clarence E. Gauss, in his official visit to the Consular office today, although he called at the Japanese and Soviet consulates-general on either side of the American. He sent his secretary to

Diagram of Community Center Around Proposed New Souland Market

This shows how the market, an H-shaped structure, will fill two city blocks, with the large central unit occupying what is now Eighth street, between Carroll and Julia streets. Part of the southern shaft of the H will be inclosed, while the remainder will comprise open pavilions at first. The diagram shows the surrounding community buildings.

Gauss pleading that time was short and asking for another appointment.

The number of foreigners killed in yesterday's fighting remains to be established. The only American fatality thus far confirmed is the death of Dr. J. E. Williams of Shawnee, O., vice president of Nanking University.

The American destroyers Noa and Preston and the British cruiser Emerald, which went into action to rescue the foreigners, were struck many times by fire from shore. Naval reinforcements are on their way to the scene.

Bertram Giles, the British Consul General at Nanking, who was wounded in yesterday's fighting, is aboard the British cruiser Emerald.

Americans on British Ship.

There are 60 Americans from Nanking aboard the British steamer Wenchow, besides the 20 American missionaries taken off by the vessel at Chinkiang. The Wenchow is escorted by the British gunboat Cricket.

It is learned that the Shantungese scuttled the Russian steamer Pamiat Lenina, the vessel on which Madame Bordin was arrested. Rather than leave it for the Southerners when they were compelled to retreat.

Reports that some members of the naval landing party were killed, were unconfirmed, although it is known that a sailor of the British cruiser Emerald was killed by a shot from the shore. The ships were constantly fired on.

Nothing was received in Naval wireless messages to bear out local Nationalist reports that there were 2000 Chinese casualties. As a matter of fact, it is pointed out that the naval fire was directed mainly behind the hill, an area which was uninhabited.

Refugees from Nanking said that the majority of foreigners are still in the city. Some are veteran missionaries who refused to leave despite Consular warnings.

Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, the Southern commander, promised a few days ago at Wuhan to insure the safety of the lives and property of foreigners at Nanking.

Butler Arrives at Shanghai. All the Americans who were sheltered at the Standard Oil plant are believed to have been evacuated.

Brigadier-General Smedley D. Butler, ordered to China to take command of the American Marines, has arrived here.

Soon after the foreign warships opened fire at Nanking, 100 American naval men and a British contingent landed, fought their way to the hill on which the Standard Oil plant is located and brought the foreign refugees to warships anchored in the Yangtze River.

The American Consul John K. Davis and his family were among those rescued by the landing parties.

At Hankow and elsewhere, according to reports reaching here, fighting is going on between moderate Chinese Nationalists and Red extremists. Three hundred agitators, among them foreigners, are said to have reached Hankow from Canton and are on the way toward Shanghai.

Many casualties among Chinese passengers on the Indo-China company's steamer Pingwa are reported to have occurred when the vessel was fired upon from the banks of the Yangtze. 30 miles above Shanghai the British gunboat Cricket is proceeding to the rescue of the wounded.

the destroyer's machine guns. Chinese forts above and below Chinkiang also fired on the Preston and the destroyer again replied by turning loose its four-inch battery. No casualties to the Preston's personnel resulted.

Previous to sending the ultimatum and authorizing Admiral Hough, in command of American forces at Nanking, to use his judgment in dealing with the situation, Admiral Williams sent this message to his fellow officer at Nanking:

"American, British and Japanese commanders in chief agree that it is possible further drastic action should be avoided until Gen. Chiang Kai-shek (Cantonese warlord) has been given an opportunity to fulfill his guarantees to provide adequate protection to all foreigners."

Warning to Chinese.

A report by Admiral Hough to Admiral Williams, forwarded to the Navy Department said he had received indirect word from Gen. Chiang Kai-shek that the General hoped to reach Nanking tomorrow to take charge. Chiang promised that he would guarantee the safety of lives and property of all foreigners in Nanking.

The Admiral said the local Chinese commander at Nanking had been notified that:

"First, we demand that a general division command rank shall come on board prior to noon today and arrange for proper treatment of wounded foreigners ashore."

"Second, that if this demand be not complied with, Chiang's request cannot be guaranteed and we shall take such action as may be deemed necessary. It may be deemed necessary to fire upon the ships on salient military points in order to obtain the release of Americans remaining alive on shore, approximately 158."

The Cantonese commander failed to appear and later sent the reply characterized as "evasive and insolent."

In forwarding Admiral Hough's report about Chiang, which was made prior to the delivery of the ultimatum, Admiral Williams said:

"Chiang's request as communicated to me by the British Vice Admiral appears to have been that no further war-like measures be undertaken until he arrives at Nanking and has an opportunity to establish order and obtain the release of the foreigners."

Admiral Williams said he had held a conference with the British Vice Admiral and the Japanese Rear Admiral and that they had sent to their subordinates at Nanking messages identical with the dispatch he had forwarded to Admiral Hough, which advised that drastic action be avoided until Chiang reached Nanking.

Replying to Admiral Williams' suggestion that drastic action be avoided, Admiral Hough gave this picture of the Nanking situation:

"I do not believe that the details of the situation are completely understood by the commanders-in-chief (British, Japanese and American, at Shanghai). I agree with the British senior officer present (at Nanking) that unless our Nationals are promptly released and delivered to the Bund, drastic action must be taken in order to save the lives of those remaining in the city."

"There are wounded ashore who cannot receive attention and should not be neglected further, including the British Consul General, at Shanghai. I agree with the British senior officer present (at Nanking) that unless our Nationals are promptly released and delivered to the Bund, drastic action must be taken in order to save the lives of those remaining in the city."

"I believe that radical action would preserve lives and further delay would defeat this possibility. I believe that the shelling of military points, avoiding injury to the civil population as much as possible, would at this time have exerted effect upon the port and along the river."

"I have just received an evasive and insolent reply from the local army commander."

"I consider that if concrete action is not taken firmly and immediately here, the lives of the

NEW SOULARD MARKET WILL COST $170,000

Community Center Will Be Included in Building to Cover Two Blocks.

A contract is to be awarded early this summer for a new market building and community center for Souland Market, to cover all of two city blocks bounded by Seventh and Ninth streets, Carroll and Julia streets.

The two adjacent blocks to the south, between Julia and Souland streets, are occupied by a playground.

Eighth street is to be closed from Carroll to Souland, making way for the market and permitting a connection between the two present units of the playground. The United Railways has agreed to re-route Natural Bridge cars over Ninth instead of Eighth street. The new market will have as neighbors in this populous near-downtown district Souland Library, Souland Bath House and the Souland Street Police Station.

An ordinance appropriating $170,000 from the bond issue funds for the market was approved to be passed by the Board of Aldermen before its session ends next month. The 1923 bond issue provided $1,250,000 for markets; of this $1,000,000 was spent on Union Market, $250,000 will be left to apply on Biddle Market.

In Shape of Letter H. Souland Market will be an H-shaped structure. The cross-piece, two stories high and 60 feet wide, will occupy the space now traversed by Eighth street. It will have an arcade running north and south, with six stores, for rental, on each side, also the market master's office. The second story will contain the community center, an assembly hall by 102 feet, seating 250 persons on the main level and 250 feet in a balcony. There will be a stage and facilities for motion pictures, and it will be possible to clear the floor for dancing. Lockers and shoe racks will be provided on the balcony level.

The main shafts of the H will be the market spaces, and will be 60 feet long. On the Julia street side the shaft will be made part of the finished building for 100 feet, and the central unit described—in other words the finished section will front 260 feet on Julia street. Farmers' trucks may be driven into the inclosures, where storelike arrangements will be provided for housewives to shop in comfort.

The remainder of the Julia street frontage and all of that of the shaft facing Carroll street will be open steel sheds, like those forming the present Souland Market. The present Souland Market will be utilized and built into the northern part of the new structure. If the idea of the inclosure works well the city will reconstruct the open parts to resemble the rest.

Architecture of the exterior will be in Italian style. Both open and closed sections will have a red tile roof and the inclosed part will have walls of variegated brick with terra cotta ornamentation. The design is by L. R. Bowen, chief building engineer of the Board of Public Service.

The Ninth street end of the site is 15 feet higher than the Seventh boulevard end. To avoid the unsightly appearance of a sloping roof there will be eight slightly different levels of the roof, separated by gables, three on each end of each shaft of the H, and thereby camouflaged. Each gable will have a balcony outside and there will be canopies over the sidewalks.

asked Cameron about the policy of the Ford-relied Independent toward the "international Jew."

Defense counsel immediately were upon their feet with an objection. Stewart Hanley ruled that Judge Raymond had previously that evidence concerning "the international Jew" was barred.

Gallagher contended that the evidence was admissible under the ruling of the court that evidence concerning "groups" or "classes" of Jews named in the alleged libel, along with testimony relating to individual Jews mentioned in the articles might go in.

The court ruled that while the term "international Jew" was mentioned six or eight times in the introduction to the amended declaration of $5 alleged libel, there was no reference to it as forming a group. He refused to permit testimony concerning the "international Jew."

Defense objections kept the witness from answering questions concerning conferences Cameron may have had with Ford about the attitude of the Independent toward Jews, toward its own articles mentioning Jacob Schiff, Lewis Marshall, Paul M. Warburg and Otto Kahn; toward certain Jewish individuals and toward the activities of the Jewish people in the race, or toward the activities of individual Jews.

Ford Discussed "Ring." Cameron admitted that he and Ford had discussed the international banking ring, but denied that they had talked over the policy of the Dearborn Independent toward it. Cameron got in four words of a reply that he "tried to discuss" before he was cut off sharply by an objection of defense counsel.

It was at that point that the argument over the interrogation arose and the jury was sent out. One of the six men on the jury was mumbling "irrelevant, immaterial and incompetent," the chief burden of defense objections, as he passed the press table.

Wrangling Worries Judge. Judge Raymond warned attorneys he would have to limit arguments if wrangling continued and directed Cameron to answer. The jury was recalled and Cameron said Ford had discussed the international banking ring in regard to its effect on the welfare of the people, its effect on war and peace, on international war debts, manipulation of the gold standard and like matters. The answer was struck out, however, as irrelevant. Cameron testified he and Ford had never discussed the Independent's attitude toward the international banking ring and that Ford never had read the Independent in his presence and that he had not read to Ford articles manipulating the international banking ring or its members.

Discussed Attacks on Sapiro. The witness testified he recollected only one discussion with Ford on the articles attacking Sapiro. That was at the time the Independent received a demand for retraction. He said he could not recall the date or the substance of the discussions other than that it occurred some months after the articles had been started.

"Wait, wait, wait," exclaimed Stewart Hanley as Cameron started to answer a question to which he objected.

Cameron testified that discussions with Ford followed after he received from farmers country storekeepers and others telling of hardships endured because of co-operative contracts. He said hundreds of such communications were received. That was struck out at the request of Sapiro's counsel.

Examination of Cameron was completed with one reservation this afternoon. He had been six days on the witness stand. Sapiro's counsel announced that the original manuscript of Sapiro's demand for a retraction was found.

"We'll Upset Their Apple Cart," James Martin Miller, author of "The Amazing Story of Henry Ford," was called when the defense refused to cross-examine Cameron, until the Sapiro attorneys were entirely through with him.

Miller at once testified that Ford once asked him if he knew Aaron Sapiro and informed him that "the Jews have been organizing the farmers, and I think we will expose him; I think we'll upset their apple cart."

Miller first interviewed Ford in 1920 for a New York newspaper, he said, and for one year, 1923, worked on the Dearborn Independent.

Miller was asked only one question upon cross-examination by Senator Reed.

"You set up that claim (that he was a Jew) for a year for Ford down at Washington and lost, didn't you?"

"Yes," was the reply.

Fred L. Black, business manager of the Dearborn Publishing Co. since its inception eight years ago was called as the third witness.

SAYS GRAINS WERE MIXED AND SOLD AS HIGH GRADES

Former Employee of Armour Grain Co. Testifies at Legislative Inquiry Into Marketing.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 25.—The Armour Grain Co. in 1923 and early 1924 was hard pressed for cash and had resorted to mixing of grades and selling them as high grades.

Harry C. Mallory, former weighman for the company, testified today before the Illinois Legislative Committee, investigating grain marketing in Chicago.

Mallory, the first witness, said he left the company in February, 1924, when he had been put on half pay.

"I went to the offices of George Thompson, superintendent of the company," said Mallory, "and told him I thought I had been given a raw deal. Thompson ordered me to wait. Then I said, 'There's something I'd like to get off my chest; the public is getting gyped, and gyped plenty.'"

Mallory explained that by this he meant the mixing of grades of grain.

A book, purporting to give a record of grains that moved from the C elevator, where Mallory was employed for nine months of 1923, was introduced in evidence.

SEVERAL ST. LOUIS CHINESE CENTERS

United Christian Mission Society Has Had No Success in Their Search for a Home.

Grave concern for the 43 missionaries in China, whom are at Nanking, in the area, is felt by the United Christian Mission Society which has quarters at 425 De Ball Street.

No word has been received from Nanking since the cable communication nearly a week ago. The last dispatch to the city said Cantonese forces were approaching the city and that at Nanking University were but faculty members were remaining.

The 20 missionaries at Nanking include three St. Louisans: Margaret Lawrence, daughter of W. C. Dyer of St. Louis, Clayton road, and Mrs. C. H. Plopper, Plopper is a daughter of C. W. SOUNDING SENTIMENT ON DAYLIGHT SAVING

Committee Says Antis Chiefly
Are Building Trades and Outside Workers.

The two sides on daylight saving have simmered down to the building trades and labor employed outside, on the one hand, and advocates of pushing the clock ahead for business or public health on the other. The Citizen's Committee backing daylight saving indicated today that it quietly was testing actual sentiment.

Any desire to "steam-roll" daylight saving through the Board of Aldermen regardless of opposition was disclaimed by the committee. In fact, the committee, after preparing an ordinance for daylight saving from the first Sunday in June this year—and the last Sunday in April henceforward to the last Sunday in September each year, has been talking of abandoning the ordinance and putting the movement up to popular vote on initiative, so that there could be no doubt where the public stood.

No Attempt to Force Action.
"The Citizen's Committee handling the daylight saving movement has spent the past week in quietly testing the sentiment of the people both for and against this movement," said Chairman Sanders. "We believe we owe a duty to the citizens to obtain all of the information possible and to have our final plans based on what may be the result of these investigations."

"There has never been any intention to rush this matter or to force our ideas on others unless we were convinced that a large majority of the people favored daylight saving. The opponents have been unusually active in writing letters and giving reasons for their opposition and it will be interesting to analyze some of these questions."

"Our investigations show that the labor opposition is confined almost solely to the building trades and those working outdoors. Our poll of unions who are employed inside discloses, in most cases a majority in favor of daylight saving. We have reports from the Health Commissioner, from the Scientific Research Society, the Life Underwriters and similar organizations who are interested in the health of the community, overwhelmingly indorsing the movement."

"It has been said that the barber is in close touch with the public pulse, and it may be interesting to inform you that the Master Barbers' Association has gone on record favoring daylight saving."

Long List of Indorsers.
"The list of organizations is very long in giving their hearty approval, and among the number, representing varied industries and occupations are the Kiwanis Club, Optimists' Club, the American Business Club, the Automobile Association, the Real Estate Exchange, the Merchants' Exchange, Junior Chamber of Commerce and the district improvement associations. In all of these polls, the committee has omitted giving the ones showing the greatest strength approving daylight saving because we wanted first to find the strength of the opposition."

"Practically everyone knows that the employees in railroad offices are 80 per cent in favor, which has been shown by polls, and the same relative indorsement has been received from the Associated Retailers, the banks and practically all inside employees in the business district. We have great respect for the opinions of the opposers and we want it understood that the plans of this committee are going to be governed entirely by what we find, in an impartial investigation, is the desire of the majority of the people."

FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF BURROUGHS SCHOOL

Cornelia Stratton Parker Addresses Graduates on Swiss Education.

Although only one person in 95 owns an automobile in Switzerland, and radio and motion pictures have not achieved popularity, America may learn much from its school system, said Cornelia Stratton Parker, author and lecturer, speaking yesterday afternoon at exercises in observance of the fourth anniversary of the founding of John Burroughs School, Clayton and Price roads.

Mrs. Parker is the author of "The American Ideal," several novels and numerous magazine articles. Her home is at Cambridge, Mass. Her experience is based on four years' residence in Switzerland.

"Few teachers in Switzerland have not received Ph. D. degrees and the profession is respected more highly than in America," she said. "At an American teachers' college I addressed, I referred to the scaling of the Matterhorn. Following my talk, I had the astounding experience of learning from a remark by a future teacher that the Matterhorn was a new musical instrument which threatened the popularity of the saxophone."

"Music is as much a part of the Swiss child's education as the three Rs. Perhaps that explains why the motion picture and the radio have been slow in winning favor there."

"America needs to adopt the principles of John Burroughs School, giving attention to special ability rather than suppressing it in conformity with so-called averages, and providing advantages in specialized faculty and equipment, available elsewhere only to the wealthy."

Mrs. Parker was introduced by Mrs. Hugh McKittick Jones, vice president of the Board of Trustees. The ten students to be graduated this year planted a pine tree at the open-air theater on the campus, and an address by Edward Reed, president of the class, the second to be graduated, concluded the exercises.

Concerning the Uselessness of the Fifth Commandment.

"I believe that the most useless of the 10 commandments is 'Honor thy father and thy mother,' Mrs. Parker said, in an address before the Junior Guild of Christ Church Cathedral at Hotel Chase, yesterday morning. The commandment should read, for parents: 'Act so you will be honored by your children.' The girl's attitude toward men and the boy's attitude toward women will be affected in later life by what the child has observed in the relation of his parents to one another."

READY TO ALTER TRANSIT BILL TO INSURE PASSAGE

C. E. Smith Has Amendments Limiting Assessments and Making It Apply Only to St. Louis.

HEARING TODAY BY SENATE COMMITTEE

Changes in Measures as Passed by House to Be Made Only if Necessary to Get Action.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 25.—The rapid transit enabling bill, which has been pending in the Senate without action for 15 days since it passed the House, is scheduled for a hearing today in the Senate Municipal Corporations Committee. Representatives of the city of St. Louis will appear prepared to amend the bill to take out Kansas City and St. Joseph and to limit the benefit assessments that may be levied on property for subway construction, if necessary to get the bill out of the committee.

No open opposition to the bill has been encountered in the Senate, but some question has been raised on the inclusion of cities other than St. Louis. In its present form the bill applies to cities of more than 75,000 population, which takes in St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph. If this question is raised in the hearing C. E. Smith, consulting engineer for the city of St. Louis, has an amendment prepared which would make the bill affect only cities of more than 500,000 population, thus excluding Kansas City and St. Joseph.

Limiting Assessments.

In the event it is necessary to amend the bill on the population classification Smith said another amendment would be offered on maximum benefit assessments. The proposed amendment would prevent the city from assessing more than 75 per cent of the cost of the subway construction against property in the benefit district to be farmed. The remainder would be raised by bond issue. Smith said the proposed amendment limits the assessment of property abutting on the subway project to not more than 50 per cent of the cost of the project.

Under this amendment property abutting on a subway would pay not more than 25 per cent of the cost of the project, Smith said, as the 50 per cent maximum would divide for abutting property on each side of the project. Some confusion has arisen over misinterpretation of the assessment plan Smith said, due to an impression that benefit assessments might reach 100 per cent of the value of the property assessed. He said the percentages used in discussions of the rapid transit plan applied to the cost of construction and not the value of the property to be assessed. Assessments in no instance would exceed 10 per cent of the value of the property assessed because the costs will be spread over a large benefit district, he declared.

Hope to Avoid Changes.

Amendments will be offered only in the event they are necessary to get the measure out of the Senate committee, is the time remaining to get it through the Legislature is limited. If amendments are made in the Senate the bill will have to go back to the House for concurrence in the amendments and be withdrawn in the closing days of the session. If it is passed by the Senate in its present form, the bill will go direct to the Governor for approval.

Smith and Alderman Wimer, chairman of the Rapid Transit Committee of the St. Louis Board of Aldermen, are here in an effort to get early action on the bill. Wimer said he would remain in Jefferson City until the measure was disposed of.

ADVERTISEMENTS Beauty Doctor Gives Fine Recipe for the Hands

Many women will undoubtedly be glad to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, pretty hands. The secret lies in rubbing a mixture of ice-cream into the hands occasionally, preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be amazedly surprised at the beautiful transformation that has been brought by even a single application. Ice-cream is made from cream and sugar and is simply delicious for its beautifying properties. Rub it on the hands of a woman who has a few applications of ice-cream will make her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere. This recipe is worth keeping.

WASHINGTON AVENUE AT EIGHTH

SHOW FLOWERS LOSE SLEEP THESE NIGHTS

Shaw's Garden Remains Open at Night for First Time in Recent Memory.

It's a sophisticated lot of spring beauties that nod and perhaps chat in the language of flowers—or stand coldly erect and aloof—in the St. Louis Spring Flower Show at Shaw's Garden.

Today is the day of least sophistication. It is the day of carnations, roses and sweet peas and how will they ever thrust ennuet and world-weariness upon the sweet peas?

But yesterday—! And tomorrow—! come the formal bouquets, corsage and shoulder, with orchids prominently mentioned, and Sunday the feature, closing the show, will be a competition of formal table decorations. These "shy flowers of spring" are no shrinking violets. They are modern.

They stay out of nights. The garden remains open till 10 p. m. nightly through Sunday for the first period in recent memory when it has not been closed at sunset.

Larkspur Stars Awake.

Even the larkspur had no quiet place to itself. Even the daisy forsook its simple white for pretentious yellow. Even the anemone wore a new dress, so strange and formal that her old lovers mistook her for the poppy, and the most modest of them all was nearly smothered in a basket of the florists' naughty favorites.

Those favorites seemed to be chiefly calla lilies and not the traditional chaste white, at that, but yellow. The yellow ones are becoming fashionable, they say, and in line with the spirit of the show, perhaps fashions in flowers merit discussion.

Mixed bouquets of spring flowers are the proper thing just now. The lovely yellow callas just came into popularity this year, but apparently will stay in. Carnations have been losing ground for some reason the florists themselves cannot understand, since more new and fine carnations have made their debut in the last five years than have any other of the florists' pets.

Trying to Boom Them.

A local grower, for example, paid several thousand dollars for the stock of the "Winter Beauty," which is on exhibition today and this year is beginning to be distributed in great numbers. The four florists' and growers' organizations giving this show hope to all the carnation society by today's exhibit, and are making a further effort in having the national carnation show here next January.

The extraordinary Parlatan, Claudius Pernet (gold), pink Columbia and a sensation, which won the Henry Shaw gold medal as a debutante of 1927, were the only roses shown yesterday, except two ramblers, but all the society queens were there today. An unusual exhibit for St. Louis was of dotted callas, the most sophisticated of cut flowers, but growing one of the least pretentious and loveliest.

Gold and silver mesh, great bows, lavender and other girlish silks dressed up florists' booths like a boudoir or a bed canopy. Some hope for simplicity arose when the Garden Club women who judged them wanted to give two first prizes, one to a booth which simulated nature in ferns and smilax, white Easter lilies and early white "thousand-beauty" ramblers and red "baby" ramblers.

Takes Second Honors.

But the simple booth took the second cup, and the first went to a black-and-gold creation sheltering a most erudite collection, with elaborate vases and intricately carved stands.

"Those are callas, larkspur, snapdragon and blue Spanish iris," said an onlooker at the prize-winning booth. "The yellow are callas, and those unusual ones, with the single sprays of ash-rose petals on graceful stems, are gerberas, or African daisies; and those the small flowers with the black stems, that look like a new kind of poppies, are really a rare anemone. But what are those tiny blue flowers, down there below the yellow daisies?"

"They," the florist recalled from simpler days, "are forget-me-nots."

OLD INDIANA CAPITOL REFITTED

Courthouse at Corydon Was First Seat of State Government.

CORYDON, Ind., March 25.—Indiana's first capitol, built 115 years ago, is being refitted with many of its original furnishings as a State shrine.

The structure was begun as a courthouse in 1812, but when Corydon was chosen as the territorial capital the building was made the seat of government. A general assembly met in the edifice and petitioned Congress for statehood in 1816, and the oath was given there to Gov. Jennings, first State Executive, in 1816.

New Spring COATS

The Coat This Season Is the Magnet of Interest for Women
Who Would Be Smartly Appareled for All Occasions

Silks, Casha, Twills, Imported
Mixtures in New Shades

These are especially useful examples of the ways of smartness this Spring that new Coats are choosing. The dress Coat is usually of one of the many soft twill-surface fabrics, silk or faille, or of casha cloth, smartly adorned with just enough of one of the Summer furs for a flattering effect. The sports Coat invariably chooses one of the effective plaids or imported mixtures for smart expression. And the colors are those selected on fashion's smartest color chart for Spring.

Silk Coats

The qualities are particularly superior in either of these two new groups just received.

Casha Coats

Details include such effects as tucks, buttons, pockets, novelty collars, stitchings.

Twill Coats

Linings are of fine crepe de chine, embossed silk, or casha.

Tweed Coats

The colors range from tans, grays, greens, blues, rose, to darker navy and black.

VETERAN PRIEST DEAD

THE REV. MATTHEW McMENAMY.

MEMBER OF FACULTY
OF ST. LOUIS U. DIES

Had Been Priest of Jesuit Order for 48 Years.

The Rev. Matthew McMenamy,
S. J., a member of the St. Louis University faculty for the last 28 years and of the Jesuit order for 48 years, died in St. John's Hospital at 4:50 a. m. today. He was 64 years old and had been partially disabled by paralysis for two years. Death was hastened by a fall last Thursday, when his hip was broken.

Father McMenamy was born in St. Louis County, near Normandy. He entered the academy of St. Louis University, then on Ninth street, in 1872, and remained in the institution until his entrance into the Jesuit order at its novitiate in Florissant, in the fall of 1879. His uncle, Matthew McMenamy, was at that time a member of the order. He died in 1912 at the age of 82.

Father McMenamy spent seven years in studies at Woodstock, Mo., and was in a class of 18 ordained by Cardinal Gibbons in 1884. He was vice president and director of studies at St. Ignatius College, Chicago, and later held a similar position in St. Mary's College, Kansas, before returning to St. Louis.

He was regent of the Law School for 12 years, was moderator of the University Alumni Association for 10 years, and was director of the Children of Mary sodality at Sacred Heart Academy. In teaching, his specialties were metaphysics and natural philosophy.

Besides his service as a teacher, he was widely known as a confessor, serving the Negro congregation of St. Elizabeth's Church, and later for more than 20 years in St. Francis Xavier's (College) Church. He is survived by two sisters, both religious of the Congregation of the Sacred Heart, Mother Delphine and Mother Mary of St. Joseph, Mo., and three brothers, John P., St. Louis realty man; the Rev. Francis Xavier, former Superior of the Missouri Province of the Jesuit order, now stationed at Florissant, and Joseph A. of Los Angeles. Malcolm McMenamy, St. Louis lawyer, and Walter McMenamy of Los Angeles are nephews, and Mrs. John A. Seabold and Mrs. Cote Adrian McMenamy are nieces.

FRENCH DEFENSE ACT CONSCRIPTS MEN AND MONEY

Everybody and Everything Organized in Peace for Overnight Shift Into War Service.

MEASURE TAKES EFFECT AT ONCE

Mobilization of Whole Nation Contemplated for the Next Conflict, Will Be "to the Finish."

By ARNO BOSCH FLEUROT,
Paris Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World
Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

PARIS, March 18. (By Mail.)—
By the new law for national defense, just passed by the French Parliament, all France will mobilize at the first danger of war.
Women will be mobilized as well as men. Those who are to take arms and those who are to feed, clothe and arm them will assume their duties with the same military promptitude. All food, all goods, all wealth, will be simultaneously appropriated. All money in banks, all factories, every form of capital, will be at the Government's disposal.

The Government itself must mobilize at once to make the new wartime order effective. The civilian government will have to concentrate its activities in the military sense and the Parliament will have to sit continuously, acting as the general board of supervision.

Law Immediately Applicable.
The law provides for immediate application; that is to say, France must get to work organizing its defense. In time of peace, France is to prepare for a new war.

To this end, a new census must be taken, a census in which everyone's health, strength, education and occupation will be recorded.
Then, on the basis of the census, every man and woman will be given mobilization orders.

A complete survey of business also is to be made. What factories will make will be established in advance. The money with which to finance the wartime enterprises and pay the wages of the mobilized workers is, at least theoretically, to be decided on in advance.

The brusque change of business from peace to war requires too much subtlety in handling, however, to lend itself to bureaucratic laws, so it has been decided in the case of business and capital to leave it to business men, bankers and capitalists to throw their own mobilized wealth into the pot. Only in the case of their failure to do this promptly is the new state organization to step in with requisitions. In the universal conscription it was decided this much, at least, must be left to individual initiative.

Logical, but Unexpected.
Looking at this plan uncritically, and accepting it as a plan of action only, it would not be difficult to organize France in this way. The civil government is highly concentrated. It is all in the hands of the prefects, who are trained administrators, dependent for promotion on the central power in Paris. It is a complete bureaucratic scheme, deeply rooted. The central government, the Premier and his Ministers, are at any time able, at least theoretically to know in detail the smallest happening in the farthest corner of France. A war organization fitting over exactly the same administrative areas is logical.

It is, nevertheless, not the kind of law expected of France. It would seem normal, perhaps, if passed by the German Reichstag—provided the Reichstag were in a position to venture on war legislation, which it is not—because the German people are more adaptable to organization than the French.
But the Germans need no such law.
The French, just because organization is their weak point, are now having it foisted on them in this form.

Spontaneity and élan are all right, holds the Council of National Defense, but in the modern industrial world they are not enough.
War is on a new basis. The last war became one of national resistance.

Next War to Be Fought in Air.
The next war will surely be fought largely in the air, and among military men there are no illusions about the use of poison gas and other chemicals. They know there will be no way to prevent the struggling nations from using whatever arms they have at hand, and chemistry will provide most of them.

With the war in the air, fought largely with new types of chemicals, old-fashioned mobilizations will be useless. The enemy will attack everywhere. No city, no factory region, no productive valley will escape the onslaught and the type of defense must be entirely new.

When the new defense law was being discussed in the Chamber no word was said about the new types of warfare against which preventive measures must be organized, but the knowledge of them made it easy to pass.

The Council of National Defense has been at work on its new plan for four years, and the bill it framed and presented to Parliament was largely drawn up by a pacifist, the Socialist Deputy, Paul-Boncour. This is perhaps the most striking part about the new law.

QUIX Ends CORN

Quix works four ways: (1) Stops pain instantly; (2) Removes corns quickly and painlessly; (3) Prevents new corns from forming; (4) Prevents corns, once removed, from returning. Only corn remedy that combines these four-in-one features. Quix acts like magic. Absolutely new and different. Nothing like it. Patent applied for. Satisfaction guaranteed. At all drug stores. QUIX LABORATORIES, 141 W. Austin Ave., Chicago.

The Socialists, opposed to war and determined not to let themselves be rushed again into war, as they were in 1914, have, nevertheless, been the chief inspirers of the new defense plan for general mobilization and defense.
Safety in Being Prepared.
Their dominating idea is that

complete preparation will deter attack. For them to visualize universal mobilization was natural enough. The State will with the new mobilization, immediately approach the Socialist ideal.

The only individual initiative left will be the proprietors of capital and the things in which capital is invested, to turn over their possessions to Government or wait until the Government takes them over. Theoretically, according to the law, capital is to be permitted to earn under the state of war, but this actually will depend on what decisions are made at the time. It probably will be allowed to earn just enough to provide fresh capital where needed. If the people accept the new situation, the new mobilization will provide a complete Socialist military command. Every individual activity will be subordinated to the state.

Aware of the change in the organization of the world this Socialist scheme might bring about, the parties in the French Chamber opposing to Socialism insisted on opposing the law so as to bring about immediate demobilization the moment the danger passes.

The almost unanimous vote given the law does not mean all the legislators voted for the same reason. The Nationalists saw in it the means of uniting the national forces for defense. The Socialists saw in it a triumph for the Socialist theory. The average person realized it was necessary.

Only the communists refused to have anything to do with it. They immediately launched a fresh appeal to the workers and peasants of France, declaring the only way to prevent a war between nations is to break down the national frontiers by a war of the proletariat against the possessing classes.

No More Noncombatants.

One of the first reactions to the new law is that it does away with the distinction between militants and noncombatants. It takes for granted that the civil population in the near future will carry nothing by the fact it does not carry arms. It will be killed off by the chemical war in the air just as quickly as it were actively bearing arms.

Two possibilities of war are contemplated in the new law—either a war of defense or an attack ordered by the League of Nations. In fact Paul-Boncour's expose is filled from beginning to end with references to the League which he considers the all-important factor in any future war. He framed the law, and the French Parliament put through the law, on the assumption that France could not be again excepted either under a decision of the Council of the League, or against a recalcitrant nation, or defending itself and supported, at least morally, in its defense, by the League of Nations.

Next War Will Be to Finish.

But if there is no danger, no one should rest under the delusion that it would be a small affair. "It will be a war to the finish," he declared. "A war between peoples, a world conflict, a war involving every resource, every scientific discovery, a complete war."

To this end he decided, and the whole Council of National Defense agreed with him, that France needed a machinery of mobilization which could act quickly and in the last minute to turn the whole nation over night from peaceful pursuits to a state of modern, efficient warfare. To do this without militarizing the nation, he declared, it would be necessary to put a wartime lining into every peaceful ministry. To prevent the people of France feeling they are being prepared for war, the Government must work out its scheme in minute detail, then, if needed, the people of France will suddenly find themselves working effectively for war without realizing how it happened.

Sinclair Hearing Postponed.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Hearing on the motion of Harry F. Sinclair for a new trial on charges of contempt of the Senate Oil Committee, for witness he recently was convicted, was postponed today until March 29. The postponement was made on agreement of counsel.

SHOTGUNS REPULSE ATTACK ON BALDWIN INN IN COUNTY

Owner and Manager Fire at Two Invaders Who Escape in Auto, Apparently Wounded.

Two young men, who attempted to break into Baldwin Inn, a restaurant operated by C. Ernest Baldwin at Pattonville, St. Louis County, about 4:30 a. m. today, were fired upon with shotguns by the proprietor and Felix Chileski, the manager, and are believed to have been wounded. They escaped in a Hudson sedan after one, who collapsed, had been dragged into the car by his companion.

Chileski, who lives in the building, was attracted by the pair trying to break down the front door. He fired twice, from a distance of about 35 feet. One man fell and the other dragged him to the machine. Baldwin, who resides next door, was aroused by the firing and came to the door with an automatic shotgun from which he fired six shots, breaking the windows of the car on both sides of the driver.

The men drove east in the St. Charles road with one rear tire flat.

BOY SHOT BY POLICEMAN IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Alex Magnaski Refused to Halt When Ordered to by Officer in Railroad Yards.

Alex Magnaski, 14 years old, of 1408 North Market street, is still in serious condition at the City Hospital suffering with a bullet wound in the back inflicted by Patrolman Herman Sehr in the Wash Railroad yards, near St. Louis avenue.

Sehr and two other policemen had been sent to the yard to apprehend three suspicious characters loitering there. Two 15-year-old youths surrendered on a command of the policemen, but Magnaski ran away. Several shots were fired in the air, but when he failed to stop, Patrolman Sehr fired directly at him.

According to police, Magnaski, who is large for his age, admitted he and his companions had intended to steal brass and copper fittings from an old locomotive. The others, however, refused to make any statement.

No Delay in Pension Payments.
WASHINGTON, March 25.—The Government's 500,000 pensioners will receive their monthly checks, despite Congress' failure to pass the deficiency bill. Comptroller General, McCarl has ruled that the Interior Department may use its pension fund provided for the next fiscal year to meet the emergency.

THIRD FEUDIST KILLED
IN CHICAGO TONG WAR

Chinese Had Just Finished Fire-works Celebration of Release of Five Prisoners.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Deaths in the Chicago tong war reached three early today with the death of the second of two men wounded last night. The latest fatalities were Sam Sing, Chinese laundry owner and a Hip Sing Tong member, and Moy Kung, of the On Leong Tong.

One hour before the double killing occurred Chinatown celebrated the release from custody of five suspects held for questioning in connection with the murder early yesterday of Chin Poch of Chicago, a live-wire of the On Leong Tong. When police released the suspects, hundreds of Chinese crowded the district, touched off fireworks, burned an effigy, threw streamers from windows and danced about the streets.

Less than two hours after an inquest into Poch's death had been opened today, Sing and Kung were shot in Sing's West Side laundry by four Chinese who rushed in, fired a dozen shots and clattered out, leaving their pistols behind. An hour later Moy Hee, 37, owner of another laundry, and member of the On Leongs, was riddled with bullets as he worked in his establishment.

Poch was slain in a card room by a man whom witnesses at the inquest identified as a member of the Hip Sing Tong.

Chinese Gunmen Are Paid $2000 for Each Tong Murder.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 25.—"Back to China by the shipload, if necessary" was an ultimatum delivered by District Attorney Egan to the rival Hip Sing and On Leong tongs when he called upon them to attend a peace conference today. The Chinese Consul-General was invited. Shootings which marked the end of a two-year truce took eight lives—three in Chicago, two in Brooklyn, one in Newark, one in Cleveland and several others were shot in the cities named. Police say Chinese gunmen are paid $2000 a killing by the rival tongs.

St. Louis Chinatown Quiet. With Police Seeking Gunman.

St. Louis police have been asked to look for Woo Thong, alias Foy, alias Fay, 25-year-old Hip Sing tongman of Cleveland, in connection with the shooting in Cleveland yesterday of Jim Yee, a member of the rival On Leong tong. It is thought Thong may have come to St. Louis, although Hip Sing members are in the minority here. St. Louis' Chinatown has remained peaceful, but the detectives' patrolmen are on the alert for any outbreak or importation of gunmen and hatchetmen from other cities.

DEVICE LETS THE DEAF HEAR THROUGH THEIR FINGER TIPS

Adaptation of Vibrating Diaphragm Announced as Perfected by Smith College Scientist.

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—An invention enabling the deaf to "hear" by vibrations received through the fingertips is announced as perfected by Dr. Robert H. Gault of Smith College. He has been working on it for four years. He explained his invention to members of the Franklin Institute here last night.

The principle of the vibrating diaphragm is used. Sound is transferred through an ordinary microphone and filtered into four "teletactors" in which the fingers of the hand are placed. "The fingers pick up the vibrations and discriminate between heavy tones and light tones, which are vowels," he said. "The student learns to distinguish the difference in weight of the tones and thus picks up the trend of the conversation. "Experiments with 120 congenitally deaf persons have given the most encouraging results."

CUBA BARS DICE AND POKER

Presidential Decree Permitting Gambling in Cafes Annulled.

HAVANA, March 25.—Playing poker and the use of dice now is illegal in Cuba. A decree placed in effect annuls a previous Presidential decree which permitted dice in saloons and restaurants, and cards in private clubs.

Zayas Bazan, Secretary of Interior, says dice-playing in cafes, grocery stores, restaurants, bars and other public places, has caused men to neglect their work and families. The game, the Secretary says, caused congregations of large groups of men, playing for drinks or cigars, in all sections of the city. The poker-players have protested, singly and in groups, but without avail.

JOURNALISM AID TO AUTHORS

Journalism as a training school for authorship was advocated by William W. Ellsworth, editor and great-grandson of Noah Webster, in an address yesterday at Lindenwood College.

Among authors who formerly were journalists he mentioned Richard Harding Davis, George Ade, Mark Twain, Zona Gale, Willa Cather and Montague Glass.

Reasons Which Prove This Great Radio Value

This set is guaranteed both by the Magnavox Company and by Nugent.

It has the new feature which makes Radio Engineering in 1927 a line art that has never before the single dial. No manipulating of several dials is necessary to find the station. You simply select your station with a turn of one hand.

The Single Dial—A Great Radio Improvement!

A REVELATION awaits you when you first hear the perfectly tuned Magnavox. These sets are tuned at the factory by a tuning meter that is a thousand times more sensitive than the human ear.

No Guessing for Wave Lengths

Turn to the radio program in your paper. Note the wave length in meters of the station, within range, you desire to hear. Turn to that wave length on your single dial. This dial calibrated in actual wave length meters from 200 to 550 meters. It is also calibrated from 0 to 100 as other sets are.

BOY CARRIES FATHER'S BODY ALL DAY IN CAR

Says Parent Was Killed When Slag Heap Caved in at Mining Camp.

By the Associated Press
 LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill., March 25.—Driving all day Tuesday, with the body of his dead father, William Conover, 56 years old, in the rear seat of a Ford sedan was the experience of Hubert Conover, 12, the youth said his father was burned to death in a slag heap near Hallidayboro, a mining camp 12 miles north of Carbondale. Conover and his son were returning to their home in this county from Fisher, Ark., where they drove six weeks ago to work in the timber. They stopped along the road on their travels and stopped Monday night near Hallidayboro. About 2 o'clock the next morning the youth related the father told him to go to a nearby restaurant and get something to eat. Upon his return a half-hour later he could not find his father. Investigation disclosed that the elder Conover had pulled the automobile cushions to a place nearer the burning slag heap and the crust had broken, plunging him into the crater below. The boy succeeded in pulling his father out of the hole, but he was dead. The boy wrapped the body in a blanket, placed it in the car and started for home. An undertaker refused to care for the body until Coroner Thompson was called. The Coroner started an inquest. After hearing the boy's story, a party of men went to Hallidayboro to investigate. Upon their return the inquest will be concluded. Conover is survived by his widow and six children.

NEW CLASSIFICATION FOR RADIO STATIONS

Kilocycles, Spaced by Units of 10, Will Replace Meters as Measure.

By the Associated Press.
 WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Federal Radio Commission has announced that hereafter the electrical frequency of power used in broadcasting, rather than the wave length in meters, would be the basis of classifying stations.
 All applicants for license to broadcast or to use radio tele-graphically are notified to govern themselves accordingly.

Hereafter allocations of space for broadcasting will be made on the kilocycle scale, by which 40 kilocycles will be considered the equivalent of 555.2 meters in wave length, the scale rising in frequency until at 1500 kilocycles, which is equivalent to a 199.9 meter wave length, the broadcasting band regularly used is exhausted.
 Further, the allocations will be spaced apart by even units of 10, running 540, 550, 560 and so forth up to the top limit. The commission has announced that no application will be favorably received which provides for use of a kilocycle phase intermediate to any of the 10 unit divisions, as it has been demonstrated that broadcasting at an intermediate phase will interfere with operations of both greater and lower frequency.

A preliminary investigation has convinced the commission that it will not be necessary to close any large number of the 733 broadcasting stations now in operation in the United States.

Hearings on the radio situation will begin March 29, but the study has proceeded so far that the commissioners are satisfied that practically all the operating broadcasters may aid in solving the problem.
 "If it were necessary to cancel a whole body of licenses in every part of the United States and to work out interference everywhere because it was as acute as that around New York and Chicago, I am inclined to think that the commission would resign in a body and that it would be impossible to get any set of human beings to face the job," Commissioner Bellows said.
 "But happily the congestion is pretty well localized. Of the 733 stations operating, a large number want to send only a few hours in a week and merely wish to reach a restricted locality. A great number of these stations can be fitted in together by proper allotment of time, wave lengths and localities.
 "The interference largely comes from the great stations which seek fairly continuous operation and conflict with each other. Even here, it is the hope of the commission that we shall be able, after considering the whole country, to notify the broadcasters at Chicago and

New York, for instance, to work out an adjustment that will eliminate the trouble. If they do not work out an adjustment, the commission will make one and enforce it."

NAT GOLDSTEIN WILL RETURN TO PRISON NEXT WEEK

Former Circuit Clerk of St. Louis Loses Plea for Probation From Sentence of Two Years.

TRIBUTES OF FRIENDS FAIL TO SAVE HIM

Trial Judge Takes View That Defendant Has No Ground for Complaint and Should Serve Penalty

By JOHN T. ROGERS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 23. Nat Goldstein, Republican politician and former Clerk of the Circuit Court of St. Louis, who in Federal Court here yesterday, lost his appeal for probation to escape a two-year prison sentence, next week will lose his identity in a felon's number when he enters the United States Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

As is known, he was one of 20 St. Louis and Cincinnati politicians, Federal office-holders, bootleggers, gangsters and fixers, who banded together in an underworld consortium to violate the Volstead act on a big scale by the illegal removal in 1923 of 30,000 gallons of whiskey for bootleg purposes from the Jack Daniel Distillery warehouse in St. Louis. The Indianapolis court took jurisdiction by reason of the fact that some of the whiskey was seized in transit in this State.

Many of Goldstein's St. Louis friends, judges, city officials, business and professional men, had written letters of tribute to Goldstein's reputation and beseeching Judge Robert C. Baltzell to grant the petition, but to no avail. It was the court's view that Goldstein was convicted as charged; that the conviction was affirmed by the higher courts, and the only issue before the court was a petition for suspension of sentence, which was not warranted by any extraordinary circumstance, as required by the statute.

Represented by Congressman Goldstein was represented by Congressman L. C. Dyer of St. Louis, who, a year ago, introduced a bill in Congress to curb the power of Federal Judges. In discussing the measure at the time Congressman Dyer criticized Judge Baltzell for commenting on the evidence in the Jack Daniel case and denying bond to those convicted. His attitude toward this court was well known here, but the fact was not mentioned in the proceedings. After Judge Baltzell denied the petition for probation, a warrant to execute the mandate of the higher court was promptly drawn by the clerk and sent to the Marshal's office for a stay of execution, which also was denied. Judge Baltzell remarked that the Marshal most likely would grant Goldstein a few days in which to arrange his affairs. At the Marshal's office it was pointed out that that official had gone to Leavenworth with other prisoners, including four St. Louisans convicted in the case with Goldstein, and upon his return to Indianapolis probably would arrange to arrest Goldstein early next week under the warrant and take him to prison.

It also might be said that his friends unwittingly dealt his cause a severe blow in the crisis of his last appeal today. They wrote letters to Judge Baltzell on behalf of their friend, some of which did not serve to please the Court. One writer, a St. Louis lawyer, audaciously wrote Judge Baltzell that Goldstein should have been granted a new trial in the first place.

Mentions Audacious Letter. Judge Baltzell mentioned the letter, but did not name the writer. He hastened to assure Congressman Dyer that he would be just to Goldstein and not allow this letter to influence him.

Goldstein was accompanied to Indianapolis by Congressman Dyer, Dr. J. Curtis Lyter, St. Louis physician, who, with two other physicians, Dr. J. C. Bram and Dr. E. Johnson, both of St. Louis, visited Goldstein at the St. Louis Hospital, made affidavits that Goldstein now is seriously ill and that close confinement would damage his life.

Testimony of Dr. Lyter. Dr. Lyter was introduced as a good friend of Goldstein, but proved a rather one for the Government. He frankly stated that Goldstein's ailments might properly be treated in a hospital such as that in Leavenworth Penitentiary.

Goldstein is 65 years old. Dr. Lyter testified he was suffering from a multiplicity of ailments that usually attend advanced age, the most aggravating of which are chronic myocarditis, cardiac hypertrophy, chronic aortitis with aortic aneurysm, pectus, cardiac compensation and general aorta

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 25.—Goldstein, former Clerk of the Circuit Court of St. Louis, who in Federal Court here yesterday, lost his appeal for probation to escape a two-year prison sentence, next week will lose his identity in a familiar number when he enters the United States Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

As is known, he was one of 20 St. Louis and Cincinnati politicians, federal office-holders, bootleggers, gangsters and fixers, who banded together in an underworld conspiracy to violate the Volstead act on a big scale by the illegal removal in 1925 of 20,000 gallons of whiskey for bootleg purposes from the Jack Daniel Distillery warehouse in St. Louis.

The Indianapolis court took jurisdiction by reason of the fact that some of the whiskey was seized in transit in this State.

Many of Goldstein's St. Louis friends, judges, city officials, business and professional men, had written letters of tribute to Goldstein's reputation and beseeching Judge Robert C. Represented by Congressman. Goldstein was represented by Congressman L. C. Dyer of St. Louis, who, a year ago, introduced a bill in Congress to curb the power of Federal Judges. In discharging the measure at the time Congressman Dyer criticized Judge Baltzell for commenting on the evidence in the Jack Daniel case and saying bond to those convicted.

His attitude, however, the fact was mentioned in the proceeding. After Judge Baltzell denied the petition for probation, a warrant to execute the mandate of the higher court was promptly drawn up and sent to the Federal office for service. Congressman Dyer, thereupon appealed to Judge Baltzell for a stay of execution, which also was denied. Judge Baltzell remarked that the Federal most likely would grant Goldstein a few days in which to arrange his affairs. At the Marshall's office it was pointed out that that official had gone to Leavenworth with other prisoners, including four St. Louisans convicted in the case with Goldstein, upon his return to Indianapolis. He probably would arrange to arrest the Goldstein early next week under the warrant and take him to Leavenworth.

It also might be said that his attitude, unwittingly dealt his cause a severe blow in the crisis of his appeal today. They wrote letters to Judge Baltzell on behalf of their friend, some of which did not even please the court. One from a St. Louis lawyer, audacious wrote Judge Baltzell that Goldstein should have been granted a new trial in the first place.

Mentioned Audacious Letter. Judge Baltzell mentioned the letter, but did not name the writer. He threatened to assure Congressman Dyer that he would be just to Goldstein and not allow this letter to influence him.

What Two St. Louis Judges Wrote in Goldstein's Behalf

TWO letters written in behalf of Nat Goldstein by Probate Judge Charles W. Holtcamp and Circuit Judge Harry A. Hamilton were made part of the court record. Concerning letters designed to help a Judge make up his mind, especially from outsiders who might not be familiar with all points of a case, Judge Baltzell remarked, "I would hesitate to write another Judge concerning a case in his court suggesting what he should do."

From Judge Holtcamp.
The text of Judge Holtcamp's letter follows:

"Dear Sir:
I send you this letter for Nathan Goldstein and in connection with his application for a suspension of sentence. For 20 years past I have been Judge of the Probate Court of St. Louis. I have known Mr. Goldstein for many years and during the time he was Clerk of the Circuit Court of the City of St. Louis I was one of the Judges thereof.

"Prior to his retirement as Clerk of the Circuit Court Mr. Goldstein held public office for a great many years and was always active in civic affairs. He is one of the best known citizens of our city and has a very large circle of friends and among them he is very highly esteemed.

"During the time he had held the office of Circuit Clerk he was very attentive to the duties of the office and his administration thereof received universal applause.

"I am of the opinion that his application for parole deserves your careful consideration, and if granting the same is consistent with your views on the subject of parole and probation, I would be personally pleased to have you act favorably thereon."

From Judge Hamilton.
Judge Hamilton wrote:

"Dear Judge:
I am informed that an application has been or will be filed by Nathan Goldstein for parole and suspension of sentence. I have been intimately acquainted with Mr. Goldstein for more than 25 years and during the time he was Clerk of the Circuit Court of the City of St. Louis I was one of the Judges thereof.

"Prior to his retirement as Clerk of the Circuit Court Mr. Goldstein held public office for a great many years and was always active in civic affairs. He is one of the best known citizens of our city and has a very large circle of friends and among them he is very highly esteemed.

"During the time he had held the office of Circuit Clerk he was very attentive to the duties of the office and his administration thereof received universal applause.

"I am of the opinion that his application for parole deserves your careful consideration, and if granting the same is consistent with your views on the subject of parole and probation, I would be personally pleased to have you act favorably thereon."

severals. At this Judge Baltzell took the doctor in hand to discover what it was all about.

Explains Medical Terms.
Dr. Lyter explained that the medical terms meant heart trouble and hardening of the arteries. In far-reaching effect. It involved a conspiracy reaching from State to State, affecting substantial business men, statesmen, trusted public officials, men of wealth and influence and bootleggers. It tainted and corrupted a large number of men who were apparently ready and willing to participate in the unlawful adventure upon receiving assurance of immunity from punishment. It involved the betrayal of confidence and violation of trust reposed by the Government in its public servants.

Affidavits Subscribed.
Affidavits pronouncing Goldstein a citizen of the "best reputation for integrity and honesty" were submitted to the court from the following St. Louisans: Lyman T. Hay, president of the Hotel Jefferson Co.; A. N. Kingsbury, president of the City Trust Co.; Stephen M. Wagner of the Chamber of Commerce; J. E. Brockman, automobile dealer and former president of the Police Board; Alfred K. Puckett, secretary of the Wagner Bros. Moving & Storage Co.; Robert E. Lee, manager of the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association; J. Sanders, president of the American Foundry and Manufacturing Co.; Norman B. Champ, vice president of the Champ Spring Co.; and Charles J. Kron, vice president of the A. Kron Undertaking Co.

Judge Baltzell said he had received many letters from other St. Louisans suggesting he grant Goldstein's petition. These were from "officials and business and professional men," he said, which he would not make part of the record as they were semipublic in nature and their publication might embarrass the writers.

CITIZENS' BOARD INDORSSES
FOUR FOR SCHOOL ELECTION
Eleanor Horton, Myrt A. Rollins, Arthur S. Werremer, and Dr. D. C. Todd Are Indorsed.

Four candidates were indorsed for the four places on the Board of Education, to be filled at the election of April 5, by the Executive Committee of the Citizens' School Board Committee, meeting at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

They are Miss Eleanor D. Horton, vice president of brokerage firm, former president of the Town Club and former teacher; Myrt A. Rollins, lawyer and present member of the Board of Education, seeking re-election, and former president of the Public School Patrons' Alliance; Arthur S. Werremer, printer, stationer and member of the Citizens' Supervisory Bond Issue Committee; and Dr. D. C. Todd, a leader in playground and athletic work.

There are six other candidates, who were not indorsed. They are Stephen M. Wagner, president of the board, seeking re-election; Mrs. Julia Childs Curtis, a Negro and student of sociology; Henry P. Schroeder, Dr. Paul E. Eckardt, George W. Johnson and Fred Weissmann.

A tribute to business as the greatest power for world peace and the strongest influence in the reconstruction of Europe was voiced by Baron von Maltzan, German Ambassador to the United States, in a luncheon address before the Chamber of Commerce and the World Trade Club yesterday. He praised the Dawes plan as the "most striking and far-reaching example of practical political work on the part of men of finance."

"Trade relations," the Ambassador declared, "are the strongest ties by which nations can be linked together, and thus form the soundest basis of peace."

Baron von Maltzan spoke before an audience of about 600, which packed the Chamber of Commerce dining room. Many of the audience were of German extraction and about 50 were women. The Ambassador's wife, Baroness Edith von Maltzan, who is accompanying her husband on a tour of the Middle West and Southwest, did not attend the luncheon.

Guests of Charles Nagel.
The Ambassador arrived yesterday morning from New Orleans for a four-day visit. Last night he and the Baroness were dinner guests at the home of Charles Nagel, former Secretary of Commerce and Labor, and had luncheon with Chancellor and Mrs. Hadley. Tonight they will attend a dinner of the Germanistic Society at Hotel Chase.

Before the Chamber of Commerce, the Ambassador spoke for about 10 minutes from a typed manuscript. Then, laying his manuscript aside, with an apparent burst of enthusiasm, he thanked his audience in flattering terms for his hospitable reception in St. Louis. He said:

"Permit me, first of all, to express my sincerest thanks to the chairman of the kind words of introduction and to you all for your hearty response. I esteem it a great privilege to be your guest here today and I only regret that I have not sooner found an occasion, since my arrival in the United States, to visit your beautiful and prosperous city.

"It affords me particular pleasure and appears to me to be of special significance that the Chamber of Commerce is the first body I have the honor to meet, its distinguished members the first persons whose acquaintance I have the pleasure of making on the occasion of my visit to St. Louis.

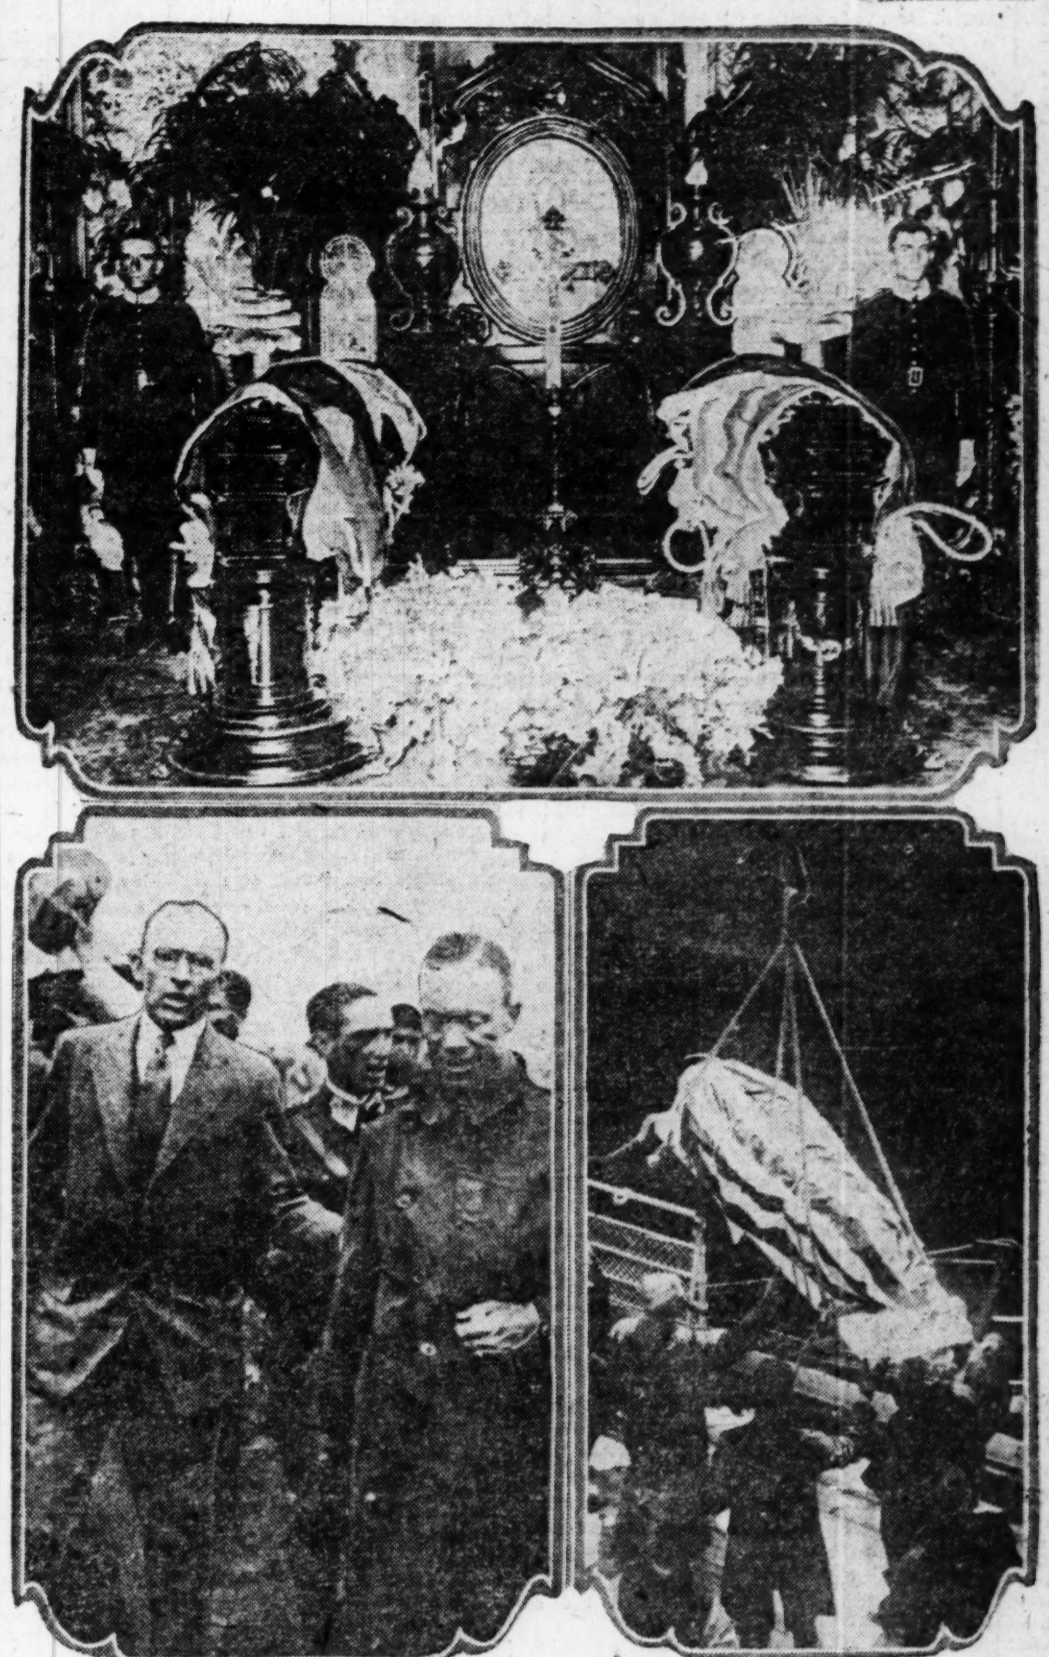

Commerce and Diplomacy.
"For I know no more fitting company for the statesman and diplomat, no more valuable society for him to seek, than the representatives of business and industry. At home and abroad I have always strived to associate myself as much as possible with your profession and have never done so without reaping greatest advantage for my own information and education. And if it is true that all political and governmental work should be solely directed to the benefit and welfare of the people, I have the impression that diplomatic work should be directed to increasing and intensifying international relation in the interest of trade and commerce and should always be advised and guided by the pioneers of commerce and industry as those most affected by bad and interested in good diplomacy.

"Diplomacy, or let me say, foreign policy and trade, interdependence upon one another in many ways, the welfare of the one being contingent upon the sound administration of the other, pave the way for each other and are successful or unsuccessful according to whether they rest upon a moral or immoral basis and pursue right or wrong aims. But never, I think, has this interdependence been more marked than in our present days of international rapprochement and international reorganization after the regrettable period of separation and disorganization we passed through in the last decades.

rial experience in this field during the last three years, of which I may interest you to hear something from me. When statesmen in Europe set to work to rebuild and reorganize what had been destroyed and severed by the war, they soon found that the mere assistance of economic and business experts in working out political treaties and agreements was not sufficient to solve the European tangle and they therefore decided to call the international conference in which economic considerations were to reign supreme and the heretofore expert assistants were to be the executive leaders. This attempt was made at the conference of Genoa in 1922.

But it failed to bring actual peace and economic stabilization to the countries of Europe, and soon again political friction set in, political strife broke out and the economic conditions developed from bad to worse; trade was disorganized, credit was undermined and the currency, losing its value in most countries, went down with a rush at some places the extent and velocity of which was never believed to be possible.

"This development, deplorable as it was and terrible in its effect upon many millions who had to suffer the pangs of poverty and starvation, had at least the one advantage of bringing the responsible leaders to realize that things could not further so proceed, and it was in particular, responsible leaders of commerce and industry who came to the conclusion that matters could not be left in the hands of statesmen alone, that they would have to seek an initiative of their own if complete collapse was to be avoided and the way opened to a re-establishment of better conditions for trade and commercial intercourse.

Dawes Plan of Striking Service.
"The program of reconstruction which bears the name of the Vice President of the United States (Charles G. Dawes) was the most striking and far-reaching example of such initiative and practical political work on the part of men of commerce and finance. It has proved a turning point in the development of European politics and a basis for the reconstruction of the economic system of the European continent.

"Other countries were assisted by the economic and financial organization of the League of Nations, but almost everywhere it was the aid of business men, of bankers and heads of trade corporations, many of them American citizens, that resort was taken to, in order to carry through the work of reconstruction and improvement.

"In other words, the work of the diplomat and statesman was guided, and even to a certain extent taken over, by the practical men of business, and then, at last, things went ahead.

"Equally valuable work has been accomplished in the last years by the business men of Europe in getting together in international agreements, sometimes between two, sometimes between several countries, thereby paving the way for political rapprochement; and it is in this light that I ask you to regard the different industrial combines which of late have been founded in Europe. They have, of course, been moulded in the interest of the contracting parties, but they are not directed against public policy or in restraint of trade.

"They have proved, as in the case of Germany, France and Belgium, of greatest value in the adjustment of general trade relations, they have been extremely helpful in clearing up the atmosphere that is in bringing the public opinion of the countries concerned together and they have thus paved the way for political and intellectual rapprochement.

Trade Leads to Peace.
"In demonstrating that international conciliation and co-operation in matters of industry and commerce inures to the benefit of the parties concerned, the negotiators of those combines have given an example to the politicians, which I am happy to say, is being more and more followed. Thus international trade has built innumerable bridges over the borders of the countries still separated by political differences and wartime psychosis, and governments, and people alike, have availed themselves of these bridges to get together and understand each other.

"We have in this way in Europe witnessed wonderful examples of the practical use of the constructive power of business and commercial enterprise, and you will believe me if I assure you of my admiration of the methods of trade and for the help and advice of business men in the discharge of the duties of the statesman and the diplomat.

"If it may be true that trade competition has sometimes been the cause of international friction, it is unquestionably true that trade relations are the strongest ties by which nations can be linked together, and thus form the soundest basis of peace.

"I sincerely hope that in the time to come the cohesive powers of trade may always predominate over any disruptive elements and that the politician and the diplomat may always seek and find advice and help from you, the representatives of commerce and industry."

U. S. GETS BRITISH-FRENCH DRAFTS OF ARMS TREATIES

American View on Them Expected to Be Presented at Geneva in a Few Days.
By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, March 25.—The complete text of the British and French draft treaties on the limitation of armaments, presented to the League of Nations Preparatory Commission on Disarmament several days ago, have been cabled to Washington. This was announced today by Hugh Gibson, American Minister to Belgium, at the session of the commission. He added he expected within a few days to present the American views on the subject, as the United States desired to contribute her full share to a solution of all the delicate problems.

Viccount Cecil England delivered a conciliatory speech which contained some promise of a possible reconciliation of the divergent views of France and England regarding the number of reserves, of which France has suggested a larger number than has England.

Lord Cecil declared the British army does not compete in size with continental forces, but is an entirely defensive organization, chiefly intended for service overseas.

ASKS GOV. SMITH IF HE HOLDS HIS CHURCH ABOVE U. S.

Lawyer, in Open Letter, Raises Question of Cath-olic's Desirability for the Presidency.

GOVERNOR SAYS HE WILL ANSWER

Charles C. Marshall Points Out Conflict Between Traditional American Spirit and the Vatican.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 25.—Does Gov. Smith's adherence to the Roman Catholic Church make him unacceptable for the presidency to those who subscribe fully to the theories of government set forth by our Constitution? The question is raised in a serious way in the current issue of the Atlantic Monthly under the title, "An Open Letter to the Hon. Alfred E. Smith."

The "open letter" was written by Charles C. Marshall, described by the magazine as "an experienced attorney of New York City who has throughout his active life been closely associated with the American Church and has made himself an authority on canon law."

Excerpts From the Letter.
"The American people take pride in viewing the progress of an American citizen from the humble estate in which his life began toward the highest office within the gift of the nation," the letter begins.

"It is for this reason," it continues, "that your candidacy for the presidential nomination has stirred the enthusiasm of a great body of your fellow-citizens. They know and rejoice in the hardship and the struggle which have fashioned you as a leader of men."

"They know your fidelity to the morality you have advocated in public and private life and to the religion you have revered, your great record of public trusts successfully and honestly discharged, your spirit of fair play and justice, even to your political opponents.

"Partisanship bids fair to quail before the challenge of your personality and men who vote habitually against your party are pondering your candidacy with sincere respect; and yet through all this tribute there is a note of doubt, a sinister cast of interrogation, not as to intentional rectitude and moral purpose, but as to certain conceptions which your fellow citizens attribute to you as a loyal and conscientious Roman Catholic, which in their minds are irreconcilable with the Constitution which as President you will declare his oath to defend, and with the principles of civil and religious liberty on which American institutions are based."

Concept of Church and State.
"Ascertaining the time is ripe for the Governor to declare his position on this question, the letter adds:

"The conceptions to which we refer are not superficial. They are of the very life and being of the Roman Catholic Church, determining its status and its relation to the State and to the great masses of men whose convictions deny them the privilege of membership in that church.

"These conceptions have been recognized before by Roman Catholics as a potential obstacle to their participation in public office. Pope Leo XIII himself declaring, in one of his encyclical letters that 'It may, in some places, be true that for most urgent and just reasons it is by no means expedient for Catholics to engage in public affairs or to take an active part in politics.'"

Marshall concedes that the Governor would declare his faith of office with absolute fidelity to his moral standards, but contends these standards must differ materially from those of all men not Roman Catholics.

"They are derived from the basic political doctrine of the Roman Catholic Church, asserted against repeated challenges for 1500 years, that God has divided all power over men between the secular state and that church.

"Committed to Intolerance."
"The deduction is inevitable," the letter goes on, "that, as a power over human affairs, not given to the State by God is given by God to the Roman Catholic Church. No other churches or religious or ethical societies have in theory any direct power from God and are without direct divine sanction."

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of the people, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory polity.

To Simplify Court Procedure.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
An increase in the number of Circuit Judges is again being agitated, which I think entirely unnecessary. The remedy I suggest is this:

First—Open court on time, and make this time 9 o'clock. Every one surely can be in court by 9 a. m.

Second—When a case is set for trial, have the trial. That can be done by giving plenty of time for both sides to prepare the case, say 60 to 90 days; but when the time is up, have the trial. About 99 per cent of the continuances are asked for only as a means of playing for time, hoping that certain witnesses will die or be requested to leave town, or some other inexcusable reason. The system also makes more work for the lawyers.

The above plan would eliminate the making of a docket on Monday morning, holding about 50 to 75 business men there just to sit around and hear a case called and continued until noon, then lunch for two hours, and maybe hear a jury called before time to go home, a number of these men losing pay while waiting there.

The docket could be arranged and parties to each case notified to appear at different times; not all at 10 a. m., when every one would be impossible to try all at once. The jury could be selected for the week, and act on all cases, keeping two extra juries in case one is disqualified on a particular case.

Brutality in Prisons.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
HAVING been a constant reader of your worthy paper for the past 10 years, I have been greatly touched by the terrible occurrences of which I have read from time to time, in regard to our prison and reformatory institutions. Last night I read of a boy who was brutally murdered in Pontiac Reformatory, Illinois. We are asked to believe that the United States is a Christian country. If this is so, why not have Christian men to govern our institutions? How in the world can a criminal reform a criminal? Put Christian men in office or cease to call this a Christian country.

WILLIAM H. KNOWLES.

Why Men Work.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
A CORRESPONDENT writes me that a certain newspaper "philosopher" who acts as a court jester to Presidents and crowned heads, and, of late, to the public at large, recently sent to market this polished gem of wisdom: "The work of one who works for nothing is worth nothing." Of course one can never tell when a jester means what he says, and perhaps the above "axiom" is meant for a jest.

I suppose that the joker under discussion intended his words to be taken seriously in the sense that "the work of one who does not work for money is worth nothing" for a great many people in our day think that nothing is worth anything but money. But there are a few still left in the country "who have not bowed the knee to Baal" and who consider money a negligible quantity alongside of piety, virtue, a good conscience, spiritual and aesthetic joys and consolations, and the consciousness of good work well and faithfully performed unto the glory of God and for the good of mankind.

CHARLES HOOPER.

Inhuman and Tyrannical.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
As Thomas Paine once said, "These are the times that try men's souls." To what are we coming when we have no right to say when we shall go to bed and when we shall get up?

Take one working in the Building Trades line. He works one place and then another. Today it may be in Kirkwood, next week it may be at the Chain of Rocks. It may take him one, or possibly two hours to get to work. His good wife gets up at 5 or 5:30 to cook his breakfast (at 4 to 4:15 by recalled daylight saving time). Where one goes to work at 7 a. m. it gets him up an hour earlier—3 to 3:30. Why can't the proprietors of the downtown stores allow their help to come to work one hour earlier if their help are so overwhelmingly in the majority of the law? Our summers here are, sometimes, very, very hot. I well remember that about two summers ago the thermometer registered 91 degrees at 1 a. m. Last summer I had a northern exposed room. Not once, but several times it was 19 or 21 p. m. before I was enabled to sleep.

And as for health, what is more healthful than an hour of sleep in the cool of the morning?

R. FLORIBUS UNUM.

AN APPEAL TO THE STATE SENATE.

The unanimous approval by a meeting of representative citizens of the act enabling St. Louis and other cities to issue bonds for the purpose of building subways should be effective in bringing the bill out of the Municipal Corporations Committee of the Senate and having it adopted.

The fears of owners of downtown property that assessments for rapid transit purposes would be inordinate seem groundless. The report of 100 per cent assessments on property grossly misrepresents the situation. If 75 per cent of the cost were provided for by assessment, as Consulting Engineer Smith points out, the levy would be spread over large districts and would not exceed 10 per cent of property values. The amount to be provided by assessment, however, is yet to be determined, and there will be ample opportunity for hearings and a full discussion not only of the question of the distribution of cost, but of the rapid transit plan.

The bill embodies nothing more than an enabling act, which gives St. Louis the authority to proceed, to provide money by bonds and assessment for the building of subways. Nothing effective can be done until the enabling act is passed. Since St. Louis will be the only city probably to be affected by the legislation, the Senate should yield to St. Louis' urgent request.

The bill has passed the House and is now in the Senate. It has been in the hands of the Municipal Corporations Committee for 15 days, held there, according to report, on account of objections with regard to assessments. If it is possible without endangering the adoption of the bill, amendments may be made limiting assessments and confining the act to St. Louis alone.

The growth, progress and welfare of St. Louis should carry great weight in the State Senate. Both the committee and the Senate should join in co-operating with the city in the big project of providing rapid transit.

THE NEW PULLMANS.

As usual, the inevitable has happened. Their business raided by the automobile and the bus, the railroads have resorted to a Pullman coach which is not, as Mark Twain said, designed merely to see what people can endure.

The new Pullmans have: Private bedrooms, with real four-legged, man-length beds; hot and cold water, fan, chair, full-length mirror, shoe box, and reading lamp at the head of the bed. In these airy, roomy and comfortable quarters the traveler is to be transported across the country with all the comforts of home.

It has been coming. First, the washrooms in Pullmans began to increase in size. After watching the people pass in automobiles for a while, the railroads bestirred themselves to meet the blandishments of the balloon tire, the comfortably upholstered seat, the trunk on behind, and the wayside four-poster at night. Almost overnight washrooms, which had been tight little holes, in which the humor of a one-time sweet-natured people had soured, assumed the attractiveness of Roman baths. From the veritable Black Hole of Calcutta, we had almost come to the luxuriance of life in the time of Caracalla.

But the bed was the thing. Americans went to Europe, where the traveler has a private compartment, and then came back to the old dormitory for men, women and children which we call a sleeping car. Sleeping! It has been a place for snoring, for walking upon one another's feet, for freezing and roasting, and for trying to dress while standing on your head.

Competition has fixed that. Now to bed, as Mr. Pepps said.

ROY ASA HAYNES.

Roy Asa Haynes is back again with the title of Assistant and Acting Prohibition Commissioner, though Andrews remains head of the Enforcement Bureau. Haynes, a member of the sanctimonious wing of the Ohio Gang, was appointed by Harding in 1921 as czar of all the dry forces. It was clear at the outset that he was eminently unfitted for this important executive position.

By nature, Haynes is an evangelist. His manner of conducting the office was to issue daily reports to the press, couched in the most optimistic and extravagant language, concerning the progress of enforcement, whereas in fact enforcement was becoming increasingly lax. He was the man who originated the famous idea of government by billboard, by which the people were to be educated to the idea of prohibition by billboard advertising. This ingenious plan died at infancy. The rum fleet in the Atlantic was destroyed weekly by Haynes by official pronouncement, but it in reality continued to flourish amazingly.

The time came when it was necessary to displace Haynes with Lincoln Andrews, an able and conscientious man who approached the enforcement problem with the intelligence of an executive. Andrews quickly alienated the Antisaloon League, however, by substituting honest pictures of the state of affairs for the piffle and propaganda of his predecessor. Haynes, shorn of everything but his salary and his title, continued in office and bided his time.

Even in his most clownish moments, the Antisaloon League stood by Haynes, and it was enabled to put him over this time against the opposition of Andrews and Secretary Mellon because it was the expedient thing for Mr. Coolidge to do in view of the coming election. We pass over the point that such an appointment is a serious denial of the purposes of the new dry reorganization bill to take enforcement out of politics—we pass over that point to ask why the Antisaloon League continues to support the worthy, middle-headed, inefficient Haynes against the sharp, upright and aggressive Andrews. It certainly is not logical that this should be so. Haynes has no more business in an executive position than a lyric poet has to succeed Judge Gary as chairman of the board of the U. S. Steel Corporation.

We suggest this as a clue: Haynes does not drink. Andrews swore off only when he entered the prohibition department. The Antisaloon League, itself evangelical, prefers a dreamy evangelist who probably has never had a drink in his life to a hard-headed or ex-army officer whose lips know the taste of liquor. It prefers him every day in the week and twice on Sunday, irrespective of his unfitness for the job.

Members of the lower house in the Missouri Legislature have refused to abate in any degree the direct primary. It was the way they got there.

PUBLIC WELFARE KICKED DOWNSTAIRS.

Two victories of politics and politicians over the people and the public welfare were scored yesterday in the State Senate. Col. Allen C. Orrick, President of the Board of Police Commissioners, whose name was up for confirmation, was rejected as a matter of "senatorial courtesy" to a clique of St. Louis Republicans. Their objection to Orrick was mainly that he was "unapproachable," which meant that in his two years of splendid service he has refused to allow a lot of cheap politicians to tell him how his office should be run.

The other victory was the confirmation of Gov. Baker's notorious Board of Penal Institutions. This was made possible by a group of Democratic renegades led by Senator Casey, who walked out of a Democratic caucus last Friday night when a motion to pledge the party against the Penal Board was made. This group joined the Republicans to repudiate the findings of the senatorial committee which has just finished investigating the Penal Board.

Dr. Enloe, whom Baker has referred to as "my little boss," and who has run the prison $600,000 in the hole in 11. two years of service, thus continues in office. With him is William B. McGregor, who used his office to make money from the sale of livestock, and who could not account for the disappearance from the prison files of certain important prison documents; Thomas Speed Mosby, who proved himself on the stand to be densely ignorant of prison affairs and who testified that he signed the annual prison report because Enloe told him to do so; August H. Steinbeck, who was repulsed by Gov. Baker when he attempted to tell Baker what was happening at the prison, and who was reduced by Enloe to the position of a figurehead; and Leslie Rudolph, who, as Warden, was Enloe's office boy.

The Senate Democrats, who began the session with a great opportunity for public welfare, have made a sorry record. They helped to kill the fine program offered by the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice, which was the hope of the people against the crime wave. They joined in casting aside Col. Orrick, a man of outstanding character and accomplishment. By the defection of a faction of Democrats, the worst Penal Board in memory has been ratified in the face of a scorching showing of mismanagement, extravagance and incompetence.

The answer is politics. The Senate is saturated with petty and selfish politics, and public welfare has been kicked downstairs.

CONGRATULATIONS.

The city administration has had a change of heart on the Delmar crossing controversy and has decided to adopt a conciliatory attitude. Mayor Miller yesterday announced a meeting would be held Saturday in the City Counselor's office, to which all interested parties would be invited in an effort to reach a settlement. This is good news and we commend the Mayor for abandoning the truculent manner which he has displayed on this subject heretofore. The Wahash has offered to meet all reasonable objections and to compromise on a 20-foot elevation. We presume that offer, as enunciated by President Tansie some time ago, still stands. If so, the ground for settlement is laid.

FLINT RHEM.

When Achilles sulked the Trojans sallied forth and drove the Greeks to their ships. So, with Flint Rhem sulking at his home in South Carolina, the Cardinals are very likely to be driven into the second division.

Homer took the defection of Achilles seriously. If there was a time when he held his lyre tight between his knees and gave it everything he had it was when this inspirational leader held out. To Homer the Greek cause was at stake. Even the Iliad itself hung in the balance.

Is this the way we feel about Flint Rhem? Do we feel that the matter is vital? Do we see in it the black shadow of disaster? If not, we should. Flint is a great pitcher. A free thrower, he has few equals in either league. He was only 23 last year and therefore far from being a seasoned pitcher, a calculating Alexander—but he won 20 games. You can count upon the fingers of one hand all the big league pitchers who won 20 games last year. No pitcher won more.

Flint wants $15,000 to pitch for the Cardinals this season. Another 20-game pitcher, Pennock of the Yankees, wants $20,000. Mr. Breadon is offering Flint $7500. He knows not his Homer. Babe Ruth has signed up at $210,000 for three years. The Cardinals without Flint are in no more condition to enter the season than the Greeks without Achilles were to withstand Troy.

If Flint can win 20 games this season he is worth more than $7500. He thinks he can, and he is just as stubborn in Rhems, S. C., as he is in the box. That is not a bad quality, and it would be a pity if Mr. Breadon held it too tightly. Flint values himself highly. So does every good man. It is where he got the 20 games. Flint is flinty.

Mayor Miller's official car this spring will not be an ornate Rolls-Royce but a modest Packard limousine. This Coolidge economy is contagious.

WHAT WERE TALKING ABOUT.

Women talk about clothes and men. Men talk about money and business. So says Dr. Landis, a professor of psychology and the world's champion cavewalker. The professor has prowled the streets of New York and London, shamelessly seizing every conversational scrap he overheard and jotting it down with Boswellian fidelity. On the evidence of his notes he has pronounced his dictum.

The professor's findings do not impress us. Dropping London from the equation, we know what the men and women of New York are talking about. Money and business? Yes. Clothes? Yes. Also the gerundive in Tacitus, Xenophon's devotion to the second aorist, Sinclair Lewis' latest blast, whether Frankie Frisch will fill Hornsby's shoes, how will the Babe and his bat perform this season, where will the Browns be found when sad September's moon is waning. All these subjects occupy their proportionate places in the chatter over the teacups, but the supreme, paramount, universal topic of this American hour is prohibition. There's the theme that has made the diffident, audacious, the stammering eloquent, the dumb-bells vociferous.

And the professor has never heard a whisper of it. What a prune!

The court canned Peaches.

SEAT OF THE MIGHTY.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

TURNING IT ABOUT.

From the New York World.
If any one has any doubts how we would act if one of our laws were called into question as the Mexican law is called into question, let him examine the reply made by the State Department on Feb. 23 to a protest by the Italian Government against the application of the Volstead act to Italian ships in American waters:

The United States Government cannot well discuss the legality, in an international sense, of the operation of an act of Congress the scope of which, within the territorial limits of the United States, has been authoritatively determined by the Supreme Court of the United States. While, therefore, the Department of State is not indisposed to give consideration in a friendly spirit to views such as those expressed in the memorandum of the Royal Italian Embassy with respect to the operation of the act on vessels of foreign governments, the department could not accept any suggestion questioning the competency of the Congress to enact such legislation.

That is the way we talk when our laws are attacked by a foreign government. Can the State Department with self-respect say to Mexico that on the mere opinion of our State Department, unsupported by any judicial decision, we shall apply force if she does not yield to our wishes? If the department does this, there is a higher court which will ultimately pass upon its actions. That court is the civilized opinion of mankind.

For if law is ever to take the place of force in international affairs, then nations situated as we are must lead the way in a clear demonstration of their respect for the methods of law. This Mexican dispute is a supreme test of all that we have ever professed about our devotion to peaceable methods of international adjustment. It is a clear and unequivocal case. It is, therefore, an acid test of our loyalty to those processes of legal settlement upon which the future of civilization depends.

A BETTER EUROPE.

From the Nation.
LESS than eight years ago some Germans arrived in Paris officially to represent their country at the signing of the Treaty of Versailles. They were confined behind barred wire like beasts in a menagerie. No one welcomed them; no one offered to associate with them; sullen crowds watched them exercise behind their bars. Now, in March, 1927, we have the extraordinary spectacle of another German presiding over the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations—presiding over the successors of those allied statesmen who thought barred wire and nonintercourse the wise and manly way to treat a beaten enemy. We confess to having been unable to read of Dr. Stresemann's presiding at Geneva without a thrill of satisfaction that the wheel of time has turned so rapidly, that the new spirit of Europe has found co-operation a better and more Christian way than abuse, hatred, misrepresentation and ostracism. So far as the League of Nations is responsible for this change or has been the medium for it, we salute it.

JAILING DISSENTERS.

From the Montgomery Advertiser.
SENATOR BORAH declares that 400,000, 000 Chinese (we don't know who counted them for him) have just awakened to a new sense of nationalism, and Colonel Bailey of the Houston Post-Dispatch adds: "What we need in this country is about 125,000,000 Americans who will awaken to a new and revitalized sense of liberty under local self-government."

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley says Nicholas Murray Butler ought to be tried as Socrates was for corrupting the youth of the land. John Roach Straton was recently quoted as saying that Butler ought to be jailed. What is Butler's offense? It is that he has a way of saying much the same thing that the Post-Dispatch is saying, namely, that a little more liberty and self-government wouldn't hurt the country.

LOST JOB BUT MADE FORTUNE.

From the Argonaut.
SENATOR SIMON PATINO, the richest South American on earth, lives in Paris and has a fortune estimated at $1,500,000.00. Twenty-five years ago, when working for a commercial company in Bolivia, he was sent to collect a bill of $250. The debtor had no cash, but gave the collector a land deed in lieu of money. The company discharged Patino for accepting the compromise, and compelled him to make good in cash. He retained the deed to the land, upon which shortly thereafter tin deposits were discovered. Patino is estimated to hold about 10 per cent of the world's available tin supply.

ATAVISM.

Though spring returns, and we meet her gentle praises mild, No more return the wonder and excitement of a child;

One loses with the passing years the dark way we groups the thrills of playing marbles and the skipping rope; In childhood, life alone seems good, season brings its joys; What is it sears the souls we had when we were girls and boys?

Why must one seek in vain the thrill of child alone may know Of hurdy-gurdies playing all the time long ago?

A foolish dream to hope to win a long distant day By hearing finest orchestra the finest play;

JOHN G. NEHA
That Boils No

THE FALSE MESSIAH.
By C. E. Ayres. Bobbs Merrill.
This book called "Vacuum Theory" was noticed in this column as symptomatic of the revolt against the tyranny of science. If only such books were to be noted, the revolt would be of little significance, for the man who wrote it was evidently laboring under some misunderstanding. The meaning of the book was in the fact that a man may presume to contradict pundits the pew to heckle the night. And this might be no more than a manifestation of our vaunted democratic freedom.
Science as a leader of Humanity is led by some of the most powerful and well-furnished minds of our generation.
There are those who attack the present position of science with some sort of constructive scheme and whereby the values of science and certain other human values, with which science can have no concern, may be related on an unbroken scale. There are those who attack in the modish style of hostility to everything that holds a position of authority.
These do not attempt to build upon the ground they seem to clear. Still another type of critic looks out of a spirit of "distilla-ment," a cynical distrust for human knowledge and a profound lack of faith in the worthwhileness of any human endeavor.
It would seem that Mr. C. E.
Ayres is of the latter sort. His book is well calculated to please no one, not even himself. He takes middle ground between the so-called "higher" and "lower" values, one of materialistic science on the one hand and those of art and religion on the other. From this strategic position he shells both sides impartially, and closes the embardment by blowing up his own position.
No one can deny that he is a remarkable intellectual artilleryman that he is well supplied with the best ammunition. But many will question the wisdom of an action that ends in annihilation of the defensive victor.
Mr. Ayres' central thesis is not all new and not at all hard to understand of it. He shows what would be obvious, that science, as we understand, may be of very great value as a servant of man, but that as a master it leads to fatal, and this for the reason that it can neither measure nor

BOYS CONFESS SEVEN MORE

GARAGE AND SHED FIRES

Admission Brings Total of Blazes Laid to Three Youths to Seventeen.

Seven small fires recently set in sheds and garages of South St. Louis, and elsewhere in the city, were added yesterday to the string of incendiary blazes confessed by three boys held at the House of Detention for the Juvenile Court. Ten other times, four of them in synagogues and a church in the west and northwest parts of the city, had previously been confessed.

The boys are: Charles Douthett, 15 years old, of 2321A Arsenal street; Isadore Fleischman, 16, of 11664 Walton avenue and George Bullock, 15, of 4145A Evans avenue. Douthett and Fleischman admitted they started the fires and Bullock admitted being with them, but said he had no actual part in the operations, which police believe were practiced for the thrill of seeing the dash of fire engines.

The fires confessed yesterday when the boys laid police on a tour of the city, were in sheds and garages in the west of 2412 and 2418 Hartford avenue on March 4; 3120 South Compton avenue, March 9; 2904 Arsenal street, March 9; 4203 and 4207 Evans avenue, Feb. 15, and 4422 Westminster place, Feb. 18.

MAN WHO ATTACKED BROTHER

PUT ON PROBATION FOR YEAR

NEW YORK, March 25.—Col. Edward C. Carrington, tried on a charge of felonious assault for attacking his brother, Campbell Carrington, was placed under probation for one year and not communicate with him. The Magistrate issued the order after changing the charge to disorderly conduct. The Colonel was instructed to report at once to the Probation Department.

The Magistrate added an element of mystery when he said: "On the evidence, there was a question which might have caused me to hold the case over for the grand jury." He did not say what it was.

Without looking at or speaking to one another, the brothers left the courtroom. Mrs. Carrington, wife of the Colonel, in front of whose apartment the fight occurred, and who had been present almost every day during the hearing, sitting beside Campbell Carrington most of the time, was not in court when the decision was read.

MEDICINE AGENCY A FRAUD

W. A. Miller of the Miller Medicine Co., 1042 South Newstead avenue, has asked police to arrest a man and woman who established an "agency" for his company without his knowledge, but at his expense.

On Feb. 24 a man and woman, the latter claiming to be a nurse, purchased $5 worth of medicines at his store and in January stole advertising matter and a glass sign bearing the firm name. On March 5 they rented an office in the Title Guaranty Bldg., charging the office rent, stationery and other items to the Miller company. When Miller received the bill he investigated and found the "agency" had vanished.

tion, and, therefore, without natural right to function on the same basis as the Roman Catholic Church in the religious and moral affairs of the State.

"The result is that that church, if true to her basic political doctrine, is hopelessly committed to that intolerance that has disgraced much of her history. This is frankly admitted by Roman Catholic authorities.

All of this means, according to Marshall, that other religions have no lawful equality with the Roman Catholic Church, in the Catholic view, and that the Catholic Church will permit State authorities for political reasons to tolerate other religions only as a favor and not as a right.

"We would ask, sir," Marshall continues, "whether such favors can be accepted in place of rights by those owning the name of free men."

It is inevitable under a concept of divided authority that conflict of opinion regarding jurisdiction over a matter in issue shall arise between the Catholic Church and the State, Marshall says. "Who shall determine the question? Our Constitution clearly says the State shall determine it, but 'the Roman Catholic Church demands for itself the right to determine it, and holds that within the limits of that claim it is superior to and supreme over the State.'"

"The Catholic Encyclopedia clearly so declares," the letter continues, "asserting, 'In case of direct contradiction, making it impossible for both jurisdictions to be exercised, the jurisdiction of the church prevails and that of the State is excluded.' And Pope Pius IX, in the syllabus asserted: 'To say in the case of conflicting laws enacted by the two powers the civil law prevails is error.'"

If it could concede the "divine and exclusive" claims of the Roman Catholic church, there would be no conflict, Marshall says, but "there is a wide consensus of opinion that those claims are false in fact and in flat conflict with the very being and order of the State."

He adds that this consensus is buttressed by the doctrine of the United States Supreme Court that our constitutional guarantees of religious liberty are subject to the qualification that religious "practices inconsistent with the peace and safety of the State shall not be justified."

In theory, at least, he adds, the Roman Catholic church, determining for itself all matters of jurisdiction, could annihilate the rights of all non-Catholics, "sweeping into the jurisdiction of a single religious society the most important interests of human well-being."

"Do you, sir," he asks Gov. Smith, "regard such claims as tolerable in a republic that calls itself free?"

MAJORITY AIDED BY SIX OF MAJORITY

Indorsing Director
Eckes and Four Associates Expected to Firmly Enforce Them in Jobs.

CURTIS A. BETTS,
Chief Correspondent of the Post-
Dispatch.

ST. LOUIS, Friday, March 25.—
The Senate today confirmed the appointment of the five members of the Board of Commissioners of the Department of Penal Institutions through a bolt of six Democratic Senators from the caucus.

Their coalition with the Republican majority in the Senate, has enabled them to make an extensive reorganization of the Penal Department, notwithstanding the exorciatory report of the majority of the Committee, which a week ago found the finding in the investigation of charges of gross mismanagement of the State penitentiary.

It is known that Gov.
McGuire for some time has had under consideration changes in the management, the complete reorganization of the Department.

Dr. Cortez E. Engels, Director of Penal Institutions, and his associates, is expected to have objected to the confirmation of the committee.

It is considered likely that the committee will be removed to make room for a commissioner who will bring harmony with the other members.

Gov. McGuire said he was "not going about the prison" and that he would have no statement regarding the penitentiary for some time at least not until after the meeting of the Legislature.

At investigation ignored, confirming the Penal Board which the Senate ignored report of its investigating committee, which had found guilty of mismanagement, of extravagance, and, as to some men, "of having winked at it."

The controlling influence back the confirmation was the desire of the majority of the Democrats to take revenge upon the majority, who sought to stand by the committee report, for having defeated the reorganization of the Senate.

The opportunity for reprisal came with a combination with the Democratic Senators, and the advance was taken.

In the bolt were Senators
E. Casey of Kansas City,
J. D. Donnelly of Lebanon, Joseph P. Hogan of St. Louis, Carroll H. Buford of Ellington, L. N.
H. of Eminence, and Walter
H. of Brookfield.

The bolt in the Senate occurred during the session of the session, Senator Casey and Senator Cave of Fulton were rival candidates for president pro-tem.

With the exception of Casey, supported Casey, who already had the support of Senators H. H. of St. Louis and Thurston Gordon of Liberty.

Since that time there has been a falling out between the Casey faction, but no opportunity for retaliation for the declination to the Casey group under the report of the investigating committee came before the Democratic caucus. The report recommended the refusal of confirmation of the members of the Penal board, and when the motion to confirm the Democratic Senators to action was offered in the caucus, the six and Senator Gordon refused to be bound.

Senator Gordon's companions deserted him when the time came for action in the executive session voted with the Casey faction.

Senator's position was somewhat different from the other bolt-ers, although he co-operated with them. He was actuated principally by personal feeling of friendship toward William B. McGregor, chairman of the committee. They were old friends and had been personal political associates. In 1924 they were considered first.

An executive session of the conference of Enloe first was taken and the vote being 19 for confirmation and 16 against. Then in the other commissioners nominated were considered, and all confirmed. McGregor for ANOTHER ST. LOUIS FAMILY MADE HAPPY

Popular Horton Place Resident Says the Herb Extract Remedy Formerly Known as Herb Juice) Is the Favorite Medicine in Her Home.

"Everyone in my home uses your Herb Extract medicine and with the very best of results. It is now the favorite remedy in my home and I feel as though I couldn't keep a household without it," said Mrs. P. Sullivan.

MRS. P. SULLIVAN
"I have never had a medicine in my home before," continued Mrs. Sullivan, "that would give such general satisfaction as your Herb Extract medicine. Both myself and my family have been greatly improved in health by using it and I think this is a very small price to pay for good health. The price of a few bottles is a small cost when one's health is at stake. I had suffered terribly for more than a year from a nervous condition brought on by constipation. My entire system was all upset, appetite had left me, had no energy and would frequently have severe headaches and dizzy spells to say nothing of the restlessness and sleepless nights I have spent due to my nervous condition. Several neighbors had told me about your Herb medicine and I had been reading testimonials in the papers from many satisfied users. After taking my first bottle, I was ready to join in the praise and give my hearty endorsement in behalf of this splendid medicine. Other members of my family began to use it and they all like it so well and it helped their condition so much that it is now considered a household remedy with us. In treatment for constipation, indigestion, inactive liver and all the annoying symptoms which usually follow, I think your Herb Extract medicine is the most effective of anything sold today for such troubles. I take this means of telling my many friends that it is one medicine they can take with the utmost confidence of being benefited. I have found it to be just as advertised and am very thankful for having been advised to take it." This great medicine is an Herb Extract remedy formerly called Herb Juice, made from mother nature's herbs, and proclaimed by thousands to be the most agreeable, effective Tonic-Laxative on the American market, over a million bottles sold the past year. Hundreds calling to see the special representative from the Herb Juice Medicine Co., at Walgreen's Drug Store, 214 Washington Ave., many giving signed statements for publication praising the medicine that their friends may be induced to try it. "Take it," free elimination of the bowels insures health.

Renew Your Health By Purification
Any physician will tell you that "Perfect Purification of the System is Nature's Foundation of Perfect Health." Why not rid yourself of chronic ailments that are undermining your vitality? Purify your entire system by taking a thorough course of Calotabs, —once or twice a week for several weeks—and see how Nature rewards you with health. Calotabs are the greatest of all system purifiers. Get a family package with full directions. Only 35 cents at drug stores.

SMITH TO FIGHT 'TILL SEATED' Says He Will See That Illinois Obtains Its Proper Respect.
By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 25.—United States Senator-elect Frank L. Smith last night declared he "would fight until he was seated and fight for the honor of the State of Illinois and its representative, Frank L. Smith, after he was seated." Smith spoke before the Illinois Press Association.

"If we are to live and endure as a nation," Smith said, "it will be because we uphold our form of government and because the Constitution is upheld by the people. For that reason I am going to see that the State of Illinois obtains its proper respect. I pledge to defend its honor when I am seated and to defend the honor of its representative."

SATURDAY! The record bargain day is here! The greatest throngs that have thus far attended this phenomenal sale will be on hand—and we are prepared as never before—with an augmented salesforce—extra facilities for the convenience of our customers. We cannot recall a time when furniture of such quality has ever been offered at such amazing price cuts. With the situation before us it is imperative that we move our $100,000.00 warehouse stock immediately as our immense warehouse located at 719-721-723-725 Franklin Avenue through to 910 North 8th Street, is to be wrecked in part to permit the widening of Franklin Avenue. Come Saturday for the bargain surprises of a lifetime.

SENATE CONFIRMS ENTIRE PRISON BOARD 18 TO 16

Commissioner of Farms; Leslie for Warden; Steinbeck for Commissioner of Poles; and T. Speed Mosby for Industrial Commissioner.

After the bolt from the caucus last Friday night, there was a sparring about for several days in an effort to break the lines of the bolters. The merits of the investigating committee report and any question of official probity were abandoned, and the situation became one of politics.

Senators in the majority Democratic faction looked upon the question of the bolt as creating one of the most dangerous party situations which has existed in several years, and they sought to bring party pressure upon the bolters to change their position, but, except for Gordon, without effect.

Senator Reed appealed to the United States Senator Reed was appealed to take a hand in ironing out the difficulty, and an emissary was sent to Detroit where Reed was engaged in the trial of the Sapiro-Ford libel suit in an effort to induce him to bring the deserters, most of whom were ardent Reed followers, into line with the majority of the caucus.

The effort was unsuccessful. Reed sent a telegram to one of his lieutenants here, but it was more diplomatic than effectual. Reed merely said that he had been informed there was a division among the Democrats, that he hoped they would compose their differences, but that as he had no information as to the merits of the controversy, he did not wish to be understood as interfering.

The supporters of the caucus action principally were rural Senators, who, in the Reed and anti-Reed contest of 1920 and 1922, were anti-Reed men, and a suggestion of the old division in the party has developed here in the present situation. Those favoring rejection of the nomination had no help from the State organization. Samuel W. Fordyce, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, chosen because of his close personal relationship with Reed, did not visit Jefferson City, and none of the other party leaders gave their offices in bringing the factions together.

Brunk's Change in Attitude.

Senator Larry Brunk of Aurora, who as purchasing agent of the penitentiary in 1925 made the first charges of irregularities against the prison management, lined up with the administration forces and voted for the confirmation of the board members. Brunk's charges were that prison officials had shown favoritism in the purchase of supplies, had paid excessive prices and had refused to permit him to be more than purchasing agent in name.

Brunk is one legislator who is "taken care of" by the Governor between sessions of the Legislature. He successively has been purchasing agent at the prison, Secretary of the Public Service Commission and Secretary of the Workmen's Compensation Commission to which he will return when the Legislature adjourns. The practice of appointing members of the Legislature to positions under the executive branch of the State government frequently has been condemned as illegal under the Constitution and as giving the Governor representation in the legislative branch of the government, not contemplated by the Constitution.

Political Danger to Democrats.
The political danger seen by some Democrats here lies in the fact that the party went on record in the 1926 State platform as charging mismanagement and graft at the penitentiary. One leading Democrat in the Senate explained the politics of the situation in this way:

"The Democratic Senate is now on record as having investigated the conditions at the penitentiary. The party had charged graft there. The Democratic Senate appointed the investigating committee. The committee reported mismanagement and 'winking at graft.' It really substantiated the charges contained in the resolution of investigation, and then the Senate confirmed all the members of the board which had been investigated."

The principal criticism of the Baker administration had been in connection with the penitentiary. In the next campaign we will be faced with what amounts to a party indorsement of the Baker administration, and we will be fore-stalled as a party from any criticism of the present Republican administration which all know is the weakest and most vulnerable to attack of any the State has had in many years.

"It is not unlikely that this action has wrecked the whole Democratic State campaign of 1928, and all to give a few Democratic Senators personal revenge upon other Democratic Senators."

In addition to the prison appointments, the Senate took up a large number of other nominations by the Governor, acting upon all vacation appointments except the three members of the Workmen's Compensation Commission, the members of the Hairdressers and Cosmeticians' Board and the members of the New Industrial Commission. The Workmen's Compensation Board will be taken up later, while it is expected the hairdressers' board and the Negro Industrial Commission will be abolished.

Other confirmations: With the exception of Allen C. Orriek, President of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners, all were confirmed. They were: Public Service Commissioners—J. H. Porter of St. Louis and Samuel M. Hutchinson of Kansas City.

SUIT OVER ABANDONED SEWER CONTEMPLATED

Webster Groves Residents Want $20,000 Expended in Salaries Returned.

Legal action to force repayment to Webster Groves taxpayers of approximately $20,000 expended in salaries in River des Peres Sewer District No. 1—a project since abandoned—is being contemplated by some of the residents of the district, which lies largely in Webster Groves.

The sewer district was organized under the Ralph Bill, which was declared unconstitutional because it appeared to have been made to fit many counties in the State, and actually fit only St. Louis County. Before it was held unconstitutional, however, the taxpayers in the sewer district had paid in approximately $60,000 in preliminary levies and about $22,000 had been spent.

About all the taxpayers have to show for the latter amount is a set of plans and blueprints. No ground was broken for the sewer. In the nine months, however, Arthur V. Lashly, former prosecuting attorney, received $500 for his services, a total of $4500, as attorney for the district supervisors; William Stoecker, the engineer of the district, got the same amount; a total of almost $3500 was spent for office help for him and $570 was paid to the district's three supervisors who got $5 a meeting.

Senator Ralph has introduced a bill of almost like provisions in the present session of the Legislature. It is loaded with jobs for engineers and lawyers without limitation to the remuneration to be paid them and was put through the House last week on a "log rolling agreement."

The Executive Committee of the St. Louis County Chamber of Commerce is to meet Wednesday to discuss the new Ralph bill and probably will call a mass meeting at Clayton later. Like the first bill it is the subject of widespread opposition, since it gives any 100 taxpayers the right to petition the Circuit Court for the formation of a sewer district with resultant plums for political appointees and higher rates of taxation for property owners.

TEAROOMS FEATURE ATTRACTIVE FOODS

The Important Establishments Are Famous for Certain Special Dishes.

Tearooms, which are patronized mostly by women, are setting a pace in specializing in dainty delicacies and sweets. Cakes, tarts and pastries are all equally popular at these tearooms. Jam, marmalade, fancy icings and fillings are used in their construction.

We have procured recipes for several of these fashionable tearoom dishes with the hope that our readers will try the recipes when company dinners and luncheons are scheduled to be served at home.

Banana Cake. Cut a large piece of cake in half with five pieces of butter. Convenient. Mash enough banana to make one-half tablespoon. Add sifted confectioners' sugar. Spread the right consistency spread. Cut remaining banana into small pieces, add to the cream. Mix or to the heavy cream, stiff, and put on one piece of cake. Cover with the other piece of cake, cover with the frosting, place the little flowers on frosting and make stems from strips of angelica or citron, if convenient.

Macaroni Pudding. Drain juice from one large crushed pineapple. Add amount water, juice of one lemon and sugar to taste. Bring to a boil. Add two rounded tablespoons cornstarch; stir in two egg yolks—then put back on a fire to a minute. Line a dish with macaroni; spread on a layer of pineapple; then pour the liquid and set aside to cool. Serve with whipped cream.

Grape Juice Pie. One cup grape juice, one half cup cornstarch, one half cup butter, two eggs. Beat the eggs, mix the cornstarch with the juice. Remove from stove and add yolks of the two eggs. Mix well and add the grape juice and until thick enough to keep from running. Cool and put in a pie pan. Add two tablespoons sugar. Spread on pie and bake to oven to brown slightly.

Frozen Delight. Take a sunshine or sponge cake, one egg white, one-half pint cream, one-fourth teaspoon baking powder, two tablespoons powdered sugar and one cup shredded pineapple. Line bottom of dish with thin slices of cake; cover with cream. Cover top with white cream to which stiffly beaten egg whites and baking powder sugar has been added. Place refrigerator and chill for two hours.

Cherry Sandwich. This dainty sweet sandwich made of one-fourth cup marshmallows, one-fourth cup nuts, two tablespoons honey and a pinch of salt.

Hot Creamed Eggs. This is really a sandwich which is made in a hot pan. Take two cups of white sauce, eight rounds of buttered toast, four hard-boiled eggs, eight strips cooked bacon, parsley or watercress. Add the white sauce the cooked eggs in slices. Put four slices of toast on a plate, cover with creamed eggs, then the other side of toast, and pour on the remaining sauce. Garnish each sandwich with two strips of crisp bacon with parsley or watercress.

TRY COOKING BANANAS. Utilize This Popular Fruit Cooked Dishes. For a long time we thought the banana as something to be eaten solely in its natural state. Skillful chefs have developed a number of delicious recipes to include in her purchase a ply of this delicious fruit will surprise to find in how many it may be served. Peeled, scraped, the bananas may be in halves lengthwise and baked in a buttered pudding dish. It is sprinkled with brown sugar and moistened with a few spoons of water they are a delicate and delicious.

Green Pea Salad. Let peas stand in French dressing for an hour. Drain. Cut leaves arrange in a bowl with cheese and seasoned peas. Serve with sliced pickle. Serve French dressing drained from

RECIPES FOR DISHES FOR WEEK'S MENUS

Attractive Ways of Serving Several Well-Known Articles of Food.

Two and one-half cups parsley pulp; one tablespoonful lemon juice; one-quarter teaspoonful paprika; two tablespoonful butter; one-half cup minced parsley. The parsnip should be peeled, cut into small pieces, and boiled in salted water until tender and then mashed to a pulp. For this recipe about six cups will be required. Drain and mash. Add the butter and seasonings and lemon juice. Serve in a deep vegetable dish garnished with minced parsley.

Vegetable and Gelatin Salad. Two cups tomato aspic; one and one-half cups cooked vegetables; one and one-half tablespoonful cold water; three tablespoonful cold water; salt and paprika to taste. Boiled salad dressing to moisten. Soak the gelatin in the cold water for one hour. Add the aspic, then the gelatin and dissolve. Add the seasonings and when slightly stiff add the vegetables. Among these suitable are string beans, corn, celery, carrots, cucumbers, cabbage, radishes, turn into small molds; set away to chill and serve on a bed of lettuce with a boiled dressing.

Fruit Muffins. One and one-quarter cups whole wheat flour; three-quarters cup of bread flour; three teaspoonful of baking powder; one egg; one cup milk; two and one-half cups sugar; one cup raisins; one cup currants; one cup blueberries; one cup evaporated milk; one-half cup minced celery; one and one-half quarts of white stock; one-half cup minced onion and green pepper. Have ready the minced vegetables and cook these together for five minutes. Combine the stock and seasonings and add to the first mixture. Boil until the celery is soft. Add the raisins and the evaporated milk and serve piping hot.

Mushroom Bisque. One and one-half cups minced mushrooms; one tablespoonful of butter; one cup cream; one cup cracker crumbs; one cup evaporated milk; one-half cup minced celery; one and one-half quarts of white stock; one-half cup minced onion and green pepper. Have ready the minced vegetables and cook these together for five minutes. Combine the stock and seasonings and add to the first mixture. Boil until the celery is soft. Add the raisins and the evaporated milk and serve piping hot.

Many Good Foods Prepared Outside the Home Kitchen

NOT long ago I talked with a lady who has retired from teaching. She has resumed household duties which were familiar in her girlhood. She commented upon the changes for the better which have taken place in domestic life.

I joked with her a little about a recent statement that humans are turning into goats, eating out of cans, if not actually eating the cans. She insisted, however, that canned foods are good foods, and of course, I agreed with her. They are good and getting better, too.

My friend spoke particularly of the canned soups. No longer is it necessary to make the "soup stock" and to prepare the flavoring materials and additions. Soups of the greatest delicacy and nourishing qualities are upon the shelves of most homes awaiting unexpected but perfectly welcome company.

Upon her table I found beans from the can. Every individual bean was a perfect specimen. All had been well prepared and cooked in tomato sauce. With the cold ham the beans were delicious.

We had pineapple for dessert. It was naturally ripened fruit. That is just "hit the spot."

Please do not think my friend overlooked the fresh vegetables and fruits. She didn't. A splendid fruit salad, lettuce and grapefruit, was one of the courses. Celery for hors d'oeuvre completed the assortment.

There is no doubt that woman's work has been lightened amazingly by the efforts of the commercial canners and bakers. All sorts of breads and cakes are to be had at the corner grocery or delicatessen store. Preserves, jams and jellies, as well as every fruit that grows, can be purchased in tins or glass.

Canned fish, canned beef, canned chicken—there is no end to the list of foods which are prepared outside the home kitchen. Every such article means the saving of effort and worry.

RICE AS A BASIS FOR HEARTY DISHES

Cooked in These Ways, Rice May Be a Main Dish.

Rice is a most nourishing food and it should be used more frequently than it is in this part of the country. Rice makes, in combination with other articles of food, delicious dinner and luncheon dishes and luscious desserts.

Banana Rice Croquettes. Peel the firm bananas, and cut in halves crosswise. Take cold boiled rice and mold around each section of banana. Dip in crumbs, egg, and then crumbs again. Fry in deep fat until a golden brown. Serve hot.

Rice Fruit Pudding. For this nice pudding take one cup of cold cooked rice, one cup of canned peaches or apricots, one cup of powdered sugar, one-half cup whipping cream and one-half cup evaporated milk.

Mix rice with fruit and sugar. Combine milk and cream. Chill and whip until stiff. Fold into rice. Chill thoroughly before serving.

Rice and Oysters. Cook together for five minutes two tablespoons of butter, a tablespoon of chopped green pepper and one of chopped onion, add half a cup of strained oyster juice, tomato catsup, and prepared mustard and a pint of oysters. Simmer five minutes, fill rice cups and serve hot.

Rice Stuffed Steak. Blend the rice with the seasoning. Pound the steak until thin. Spread the steak with a layer of the rice stuffing about three-quarters of an inch thick. Roll and tie in shape or fasten with skewers. Put in a covered pan with enough water to keep from burning and cook in the oven for 30 minutes. Take off the cover and brown before removing from the oven. Thicken the stock left in the pan for gravy. Or, if preferred, make individual servings. Cut a three-inch square of steak, place a tablespoon of the dressing in the center, roll the steak around it and fasten. Place in a pan with a little water and cook as the roast was cooked. These are very good served with a tomato sauce.

Salmon Rice Casserole. Line the bottom and sides of a mold with cold boiled rice one-half inch thick. Fill the cavity with creamed salmon and cover with rice. Steam 45 minutes, turn out on hot platter, pour either a white sauce or a Hollandaise sauce over and around it. Serve hot. If a mold is not used, it can be put into a bowl and brown paper tied over the top.

Egg and Rice. Beat one egg until light, add half cup milk, a little salt and a sprin-

REMLEY'S NEW ARCADE ANNEX, ONE DOOR WEST

Promotion hadn't always passed him by

He COULD remember when he led the company sales force—when the whole office had called him "the coming man." . . . What a difference now! He was barely getting along—daily slipping deeper into despair! His pep, his energy, all his old-time fight were gone. His prospects shattered! Ambition, itself, had fled! What had happened? What terrible thing was dragging him down?

Constipation is the cause of much unhappiness and ill-health. It wrecks strength. It saps vitality. It sickens the mind and body! It handicaps every man and woman upon whom it fastens its deadly hold! Yet, it can be relieved—yes, prevented! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring safe relief—prompt prevention!

Why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN
It is "bulk" that relieves constipation. The bulk in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the intestines—at the same time it gently cleanses them, purifying, cleansing, removing wastes and poisons. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is too small to be effective—often nothing is accomplished. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN—because it is 100% bran, or "bulk"!

No need to risk habit-forming drugs! How different is ALL-BRAN from dangerous drugs and pills—whose dose must be constantly increased to remain effective! This sometimes causes serious injury. ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream. Fruits or honey, added, make it a special treat. Let it soak a few moments to bring out its full crisp flavor. Mix it with other cereals. In soups. Try the recipes on every package. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

Don't risk part-bran substitutes. At best, they can be but partially effective. Insist on genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, cafeterias. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

sage until brown and crisp. Remove from fire and pour off most of the fat. Put cabbage and onion in pan and cook six minutes, stirring until done. Put in bowl and pile sausages on top and season well. Serve hot.

Apple and Cabbage Salad.
One-half small head of firm cabbage, shred very fine, allow to stand two minutes in boiling water, drain and immerse in cold water until cool, drain. Add three tart apples, peeled and chopped, and a couple of stalks of celery. Sprinkle with one-quarter teaspoonful of salt. Add boiled mayonnaise dressing. This salad will not discolor when kept over.

Another Cabbage Salad.
A pretty cabbage salad is one made of the whole cabbage in basket shape and filled with cabbage and pickles or with a combination salad. Half of the cabbage is used for the basket part and the handle is carved out of the other half. The basket is hollowed out, and the cabbage that is cut away from the handle and from the center of the basket is used to combine with the other ingredients. These, bound together with mayonnaise, are used to fill the basket.

Cabbage with Dumplings.
Finely slice and chop salt pork and cook until delicately browned. Remove the pork. Add one pint chopped tart apples and two quarts finely chopped cabbage. Sprinkle with one and one-half teaspoons salt and pour over two quarts of boiling water. Cook about one and one-half hours. Then add small dumplings, cover and cook about 15 minutes longer. Serve with the reheated bits of salt pork.

Cabbage Baked with Cheese.
Take about two pounds of cabbage, two cups cream or white sauce, one-half cup grated American cheese and two tablespoons bread crumbs and one tablespoon Parmesan cheese.
Cut cabbage into quarters and boil for 15 minutes. Drain and place in baking dish.
Make two cups cream sauce and add the grated American cheese. Pour over the cabbage, sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and bread crumbs. Place in pan of water and bake 40 minutes in moderate oven.
This is an inexpensive substitute for the more aristocratic cauliflower, and for this in form equally delicious.

Cole Slaw.
Take three cups of finely shredded cabbage and serve with a dressing made out of two eggs, two tablespoons sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, a pinch of pepper, one teaspoon mustard, one cup vinegar and one tablespoon butter. Beat eggs, add sugar, seasonings, vinegar and butter. Cook in double boiler until thick like custard.

Savory Creamed Cabbage.
Pick over, wash and shred cabbage. Cook in boiling salt water about one-half hour. Drain well. Melt two tablespoons butter, add two finely chopped onions and constantly until vegetables are low and soft. Add one tablespoon sifted flour, and then add gradually one and one-half cups milk. Stir constantly until boiling point is reached. Add one spoon salt and a dash of pepper. Add two cups of the drained cooked cabbage, reheat and sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs before serving.

SEASONABLE MEAT DISHES

Regular Meat Cuts, Attractively Prepared and Cooked, Are Delicious.

Meat dishes are found on the menu more frequently than ever before. The reason for this is that meat is the staple of the family table and the most palatable and economical food.

Veal Birds.
Cut veal from the leg into thin slices. Remove all fat and cut in pieces 4x2 (about 1/2 inch thick). Chop 1/2 cup of meat, adding a slice of onion and two cups of bread crumbs. Season lightly with salt and pepper. Mix with 1/2 cup of water and melted butter. Spread each slice with a thin layer of the mixture and fasten with toothpicks.

Ham Sauerkraut.
Procure sufficient sugar-cured ham (medium fat), boil for one hour until tender, put ham through food chopper (using coarse knife), season with salt and pepper, place in deep dish a layer of heated sauerkraut, layer of ham, layer of kraut, etc., until dish is filled. Garnish with hard-cooked eggs or parsley and serve hot.

VERSATILE VINEGAR
It is Numbered Among the Necessary Household Articles. A spoonful of vinegar added to the water when cooking corned beef will make it more tender.

To make pie-crust flaky try adding one-half a spoonful of vinegar to the cold water before mixing. Add vinegar to the water in which you soak wilted vegetables and they will revive quickly and any little bugs in them will come out.

Add vinegar to the water when washing windows or paint or cleaning floors. If paint or varnish is on a window, wet it with hot vinegar and rub it off with a cent.

To take the shine from clothing, sponge the shiny places with boiling hot vinegar, rubbing vigorously, then press as usual.

If one has accidentally swallowed too large a piece of food, causing much annoyance, a teaspoonful of vinegar will help relieve the condition.

Often the container in which strongly flavored food has been cooked has the odor of the food after the dish is washed. This may be removed by heating a small quantity of vinegar in the covered kettle and letting the vinegar boil for a few minutes.

All traces of fish or onion flavor will be removed very quickly.

Mock Chicken.
Boil equal parts of pork and veal. Grind the season and moisten with the broth until thin enough to spread. If preferable, chopped celery or pickles may be used. Serve with sliced pickles on side of plate.

Pig Hocks.
Wash hocks clean and drop into boiling water. Let come slowly to boiling point and boil rapidly for five minutes. Reduce heat and simmer gently till tender, allowing 30 minutes to the pound.

Veal Outlet.
Outlet may be cooked whole or cut into pieces for serving. Dust with salt, pepper and flour; dip in egg beaten with tablespoon milk, then in bread crumbs. Brown on both sides in shallow fat in hot frying pan. Add boiling water to cover; season and cook slowly for 1 hour. Thicken gravy with tablespoon flour mixed with a little cold water.

Ham Sauerkraut.
Procure sufficient sugar-cured ham (medium fat), boil for one hour until tender, put ham through food chopper (using coarse knife), season with salt and pepper, place in deep dish a layer of heated sauerkraut, layer of ham, layer of kraut, etc., until dish is filled. Garnish with hard-cooked eggs or parsley and serve hot.

Some Dainty Appetizers.
The assorted appetizers served at dinner should be planned carefully and supplies laid in if necessary. One combination might be as follows:
Smoked salmon slices.
Shredded cabbage with mayonnaise.
Stuffed olives.

M'Graw Trying Find Buyer for Hornsby Stock

'Let Two Clubs Do Work Says Former Cardinal Manager.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 25.—The process of molding pennants in the Florida camps of New York's major league teams has been temporarily put into the background by the high finance.

Manager John McGraw of Giants turned his attention to Rogers Hornsby and the shares of Cardinal stock he failed to sell since he stood in the way of the Cardinals' purchase of the stock.

McGraw is trying to find a buyer for the stock.

Reinhart's Fine Work Is Only Redeeming Feature In Contest With Indians

Left-Hander Gives Two Hits in Four Innings as World Champions Lose, 6 to 1—Haines, Ring and Keen to Face Phillies in Game Today

By J. Roy Stockton. Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff. AVON PARK, Fla., March 25.—Arthur Reinhart's pitching was about the only bright feature of the ball game that the Cardinals played in chilled Lakeland yesterday afternoon.

At any rate, they did not look like champions and the Cardinals' left hander was not a very good one. Reinhart pitched four innings and was shut out for six hits and six runs.

Reinhart also worked four innings and did very well. He was shut out for only two hits, both singles, and he gave only two bases.

15 High Schools In Washington U. Indoor Events

Soldan and Webster Favorites for Track and Field Meet Today

Fifteen high schools of the St. Louis district, represented by 250 athletes, will take part this afternoon and evening in Washington University's second annual indoor track and field meet in the field house.

In the afternoon, starting at 4 o'clock, preliminary heats will be held in six of the 10 events, the 40-yard dash, 45-yard high hurdles, 300-yard run, broad jump, high jump and shot put.

The other events, including the 440, 880 and two relays, will be run off in groups in the evening, starting at 7:30 o'clock, the group winner making the best time being awarded first prize.

A special attraction in the evening will be the wrestling match between Soldan and Webster.

The Passing Show. I SEE two boxing bills have passed Missouri's Legislature. Which means a guy can fight at last.

With tools designed by nature. These bills would legalize a fray. With scientific tapping. And if approved will do away with all the bootleg scuffling.

A frame beat Collogomor. According to his trainer. The bettors losing dough galore. The bookie being gainer.

And that is what the racing bug continually faces: A guy might beat an egg or rug. But cannot beat the races.

To fill the sporting pages. Their northward way will shortly wing.

By well-known easy stages. To Florida each spring they go. To cut their training capers.

And get a million lines or so Of stuff in all the papers.

GOOD EYE! Bill Klem may have to wear glasses to read with, but he doesn't need a dog to lead him around a baseball diamond.

Willie Keeler said to be a good batter you gotta hit 'em where they ain't. And to be a good umpire you gotta call 'em where they are.

E. St. Louis High Enters Semifinals Of Illinois Meet

Defeats Rockford Quintet 26-12; to Meet Peoria Central Tonight

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 25.—East St. Louis, Peoria Central, Champaign and Mount Carmel, by winning their games in the preliminaries of the Illinois State high school basketball title series at the University of Illinois yesterday will play in the semifinals tonight.

East St. Louis will clash with Peoria Central while Champaign will meet Mount Carmel. East St. Louis sprang a big surprise when it won over Rockford, 26 to 12. East St. Louis was doped as an easy prey for the northern section winners, but the Mississippi River lads displaying a strong defensive and offensive, had things their own way from the start and were never in danger after the first period which ended, East St. Louis 5, Rockford 1.

East St. Louis increased its advantage to 10 to 4 at the end of the half and 17 to 8 at the end of the third quarter. When the gun cracked for the end of the battle it was on the long end of a 26 to 12 count.

Peoria Central had little trouble in winning over St. Charles, 43 to 15. Champaign high ran true to form in handling Mount Olive a 34 to 21 beating after leading at the end of the first half, 21 to 7. The final game of the preliminaries was won by Mount Carmel which shaved over a 35 to 19 win on the first half, 18 to 8.

The winners of the two semifinal games tonight will meet Saturday night for the championship of the State, while the losers will meet to determine third place winners.

REDS OFFER LUQUE TO PITTSBURG IN TRADE

By the Associated Press. PITTSBURG, March 25.—Garry Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati Reds, has offered Adolpho Luque, the Cuban hurler, to the Pittsburgh Nationals in exchange for a Pirate pitcher.

Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pirates, today said he had received a telegram from Herrmann, containing the offer. Dreyfuss said he forwarded the message to his manager, Donie Bush, now on the Pacific Coast, and intimated that the outcome of the deal rests with the manager.

Herrmann's telegram named several Pirate hurlers, any one of whom would be acceptable to the Reds.

CLARENCE DE MAR, 4-TIME WINNER, TO TRY MARATHON AGAIN

BOSTON, March 25.—Clarence H. De Mar of Melrose, four times winner of the American Marathon, will try his luck again over the historic course on April 15.

He has finished twice in second place and twice in third. Twice he broke the record for the old 25-mile course and when the distance was increased a mile and 245 yards in 1924 he set up another record, broken last year by Johnny Miles, Nova Scotian.

Osmand, Derby Favorite, Steps Mile in Workout

Finishes in 1:51 Without Taking Long Breath—Collogomor Is Training.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 25.—Osmand was given his first mile of the season at Churchill Downs yesterday. The Derby favorite was not urged any part of the route and with Melvin Thompson up he stepped the first half in :51, three-quarters in 1:21.2 and galloped out the mile in 1:51. He finished without taking long breath.

Kiev was sent out alone with Earl Sande in the saddle. The gray colt had been used to galloping in company. He appeared to be a bit rank and showed a tendency to run out. Sande whipped him over on the rail, however, and he went out the three quarters in 1:27.

Royal Julian was another Derby candidate to get a useful workout. Trainer Lon Johnson sent the White House eligible for a mile. He was under wraps all the way. He stepped the first half in :54, three-quarters in 1:23.2 and galloped out the mile in 1:54.

The track was fast and almost every horse at the course was given a workout.

Collogomor Works Out. Al Woodman had Collogomor out for a gallop. This good French horse has about recovered from the severe ordeal he met in the Cofferro handicap. The marks he received when thrown into the race in that race are still visible. Trainer Woodman will take Collogomor to Pimlico to fill his engagement in the Dixie stakes to be decided on May 2 and then return to Churchill Downs to run in the Grainger Memorial and Clark Handicaps. In speaking of Collogomor, Woodman expressed confidence in his ability in the handicap division.

"Collogomor is in the Dixie under only 105 pounds. Crusader has the top weight, 125 pounds. I don't believe there ever was a horse that could beat Collogomor over the one mile and three-sixteenths course and give him 27 pounds," said Woodman. "So you see why I am taking Collogomor East to contest for that $25,000 feature."

Col. Phil Chinn was at Douglas Park looking over the young horses he has under the care of Charlie Patterson. Chinn was enthusiastic over the prospects for racing this year. He said he thought Osmand stood out as the Derby winner right now.

"I like Rolled Stocking a bit, though," he said. "You know he is by Pennant out of a Ballot mare and that means good stuff. I saw Rolled Stocking the other day at Lexington and if he is not a champion or close to one then I am going to miss my guess."

West Certain to Win Girls' Title

West Virginia Team Eliminated by Strong Lawton, Ok., Quintet.

By the Associated Press. WICHITA, Kan., March 25.—The East was eliminated from the national high school girls' basketball tournament here last night when the Huntington, W. Va., team was defeated by Lawton, Ok., 33 to 19.

Pairings for the semifinals today: Lawton, Ok., vs. Caldwell, Kan. Thomas, Ok., vs. Coker, Kan. At the beginning of the game, the West Virginia girls fought desperately and were in the lead several times, but in the second half the slower-moving, more accurate shooting Lawton team began to reel off baskets.

Big Ten Swim Title at Stake

Michigan and Minnesota Regarded as Strongest Contenders.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 25.—Michigan and Minnesota are expected to put up stiff fights to grab first place honors in the annual Big Ten conference swimming meet which will be held at the University of Illinois this week end. Preliminaries will be held tonight and the finals Saturday afternoon. This is the first time the conference swimming meet has been held at the University of Illinois.

Michigan has gone through the conference dual season without suffering a defeat while Minnesota lost its first dual meet in two years when they fell before Michigan this winter. All teams in the conference with the exception of Ohio State have entered men in the special events and the relay events.

The University of Iowa team today was withdrawn from the championships because of the loss of Merlin Carter, holder of the conference title in the breaststroke. Carter recently had two molars extracted and the after effects will keep him out of the water.

Ohio State is also out of the meet as it has no swimming team.

INTERCLUB BOUTS TO FEATURE AMATEUR SHOW NEXT TUESDAY

Four Western A. A. U. boxing champions, a former flyweight titleholder, and two finalists in the last district competition, have been invited to compete against leading local rivals in the proposed interclub bouts of an amateur ring tourney officials of the People's Motorbus A. C. have scheduled for next Tuesday at the new St. Louis University Gymnasium.

Matchmaker George Williams announced that he has forwarded invitations to Frank Power, middleweight, Joe Ghonouy, bantamweight, Pete White, featherweight, and Jerry Hoffman, light-heavyweight.

Reggie Wood, lightweight, and Carmen Durso, flyweight, who have tied their way to the final round of the recent district meet, are listed among early entries. Williams hopes to match Wood with Eddie Burke or Jack Greenwick, while Mickey Maser, a former district champion, is the fighter he plans to send against Durso.

BOBBY JONES, WITH SENSATIONAL 66, TAKES LEAD IN SOUTHERN OPEN

ATLANTA STAR HAS 138 TOTAL FOR 2 ROUNDS

American and British Open Plays 14 Holes in Par and Gets Four Birdies in Second 18 Over Atlanta Course.

By the Associated Press. ATLANTA, Ga., March 25.—With a sensational 66, four under par, Bobby Jones took the lead today in the Southern open tournament with a score of 138 for the first 36 holes. Jones was out in 23, two under par, and came home in 33, again two under par. He played 14 of the 18 holes in par figures and had four birdies. It was the greatest round Jones has ever played in competition. He had 66 at Sunnyside in the qualifying round in the British open last year. Jones' play throughout was faultless. He never failed to reach the green with his approach, and his putting was so good that three times he missed additional birdies by a hair's breadth.

Jones' card:

Browns 50 Per Cent Stronger Team Than In 1926, Wray Writes

1926 Club in Fine Shape With Players Ready to Give Their Best—Howley Has Laid Foundation for Success, Sports Editor Asserts.

By John E. Wray, Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 25.—The 1927 St. Louis Browns, having completed their four weeks' training season at Tarpon Springs, appeared here this afternoon for the first game of their homeward-bound barnstorming trip in high spirits.

Manager Howley is well satisfied with the progress his team has made and there is every probability that the club will return to Tarpon to train next year. Only one day did weather conditions prevent the men from practicing, or playing, and that happened when the team was scheduled to oppose Brooklyn at Clearwater.

Only one or two men are suffering from minor ailments and the conditions attending breaking camp, this year, are entirely different from those of last year. The club and its management really hope to make a showing this year. Make no Predictions. No predictions are being made by management or men, but there is a quiet feeling on all sides that the Browns will have to be noticed in the coming race. The thought that they are going to push into first division has not been expressed, for, confronting the Browns are the Cleveland, New York, Washington and Philadelphia clubs, not to mention a Detroit team that is said to have ambitions and a Chicago club that has something still more highly valued—pitchers.

The Browns are sound, in great shape, in better morale, they like their manager and are a 50 per cent better club than they appeared at this time last year. One can lay the finger on the difference. For example, considering the team by departments, the following comparison might be drawn at this time:

CATCHING: This year, O'Neill, Schang and Dixon, all in great condition; last year, Hargrave, Schang and Dixon, with Schang not in shape and Hargrave slow to start. O'Neill appears a better man than Hargrave.

PITCHING: This year every pitcher on the staff is in shape now to go five innings and three or four could go nine; last year only two were in condition when the team opened the season—Gaston and Zachary. In addition, Jones and Stewart are real assets to the staff, while Nevers has come to life with a bang. Vangilder has not been so good in five years as he is today. Wugard, sick last year, is a different pitcher now. Ballou is still something of a problem, dependent on Melillo and Mullen. There is not much hope that Mullen will come around in time to be of use before mid-season. Until Melillo gets plenty of work and shows that he can stand it, the 1927 infield will find Otis Miller at third base and O'Rourke at second, with Gerber and Sisler at the other stations.

Miller Out of Position. This means that Miller will be out of position, as compared to his last year's assignment at Toronto. O'Rourke, at second, is one of the smartest players on the club, but can't stand a full season of play, it is said. Likewise, he is not so good on turning double plays, due to his throwing. Spencer Adams, the new infielder bought from the Yankees, is considered a fine fielder and not much of a hitter. He was bought for emergency purposes.

If Melillo can remain in full stride, Howley's troubles will be over. Dan can then make part time use of O'Rourke wherever he likes, as Frank can play anywhere.

Melillo at second and either O'Rourke or Miller at third, with Adams as an extra hand, seems at least as good a combination as last year, with McManus below form and third base unsatisfactorily filled, even with Melillo at second and McManus at third, the 1926 combination was not so good.

MORALE: Here is the big factor. Last year the team wasn't trying and knew it. In the training camp at Tarpon there was more entertainment and night life than there was work. There were more hours of card playing and dancing than there were of practice on the field. And there were other things.

This year Manager Howley begged the town to cut out the entertainment. It was done. He ordered card-playing to end at 11 o'clock. There were no dancing parties. Just rest and work.

Ready to Give Their Best. The players have taken it well, and only one or two players showed a disposition to shirk. The disposition didn't last. The other players shamed them out of it.

The result has been that the men are in good condition and ready to give 100 per cent of their baseball ability.

Last year the club was in bad condition and loading on the job in several instances.

Under such conditions it seems conservative to say that the Browns, whether they are going anywhere or not, are at least a 50 per cent better ball club than last season at this time.

It is safe to say that Howley already has laid the foundation of success as a manager.

Rudolph Leads In Title Match

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 25.—Erwin Rudolph, defending his title as world's pocket-billiard champion in a 450-point match, last night defeated Harry Oswald of Pittsburgh in the opening block, 153 to 84.

Rudolph ran out his string in 24 innings, posting a high run of 23. Oswald's best cluster also was 23. The remaining blocks of the match will be played tonight and tomorrow night.

The score by innings:
Rudolph: 2, 0, 0, 0, 0, 23, 2, 0, 1, 15, 0, 18, 17, 19, 1, 9, 0, 2, 0, 0, 2, 23, 3—153.
Oswald: 0, 15, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 4, 2, 1, 15, 23, 0, 0, 4, 0, 0, 6, 1—84.
Scratches—Rudolph, 8; Oswald, 7.

Heads Long Drivers. Cyril Tolley's rule as the longest driving British golfer is now threatened by Jack Smith, assistant to George Duncan at Wentworth, England. Smith is likened to Leo Diegel, who is a hitter, pure and simple.

Brugnon Goes Into Final in Tennis Tournery

French Star Defeats Van Ryn of Princeton, 6-4, 6-1.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 25.—Jacques Brugnon, French Davis cup star, swept into the final round of the national indoor tennis championship tournament today with a decisive straight set victory over John Van Ryn of Princeton, 6-4, 6-1.

Van Ryn raised hope for a possible American victory when he got away to a lead of 3-1, by two break-through service in the first set, but a lapse into erratic volleying gave Brugnon an opportunity to turn the tide. The second set was a walkover for the Frenchman.

JOHNSTON CITY HIGH IN SPRING GRID DRILL

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JOHNSTON CITY, Ill., March 25.—Since the close of the basketball season, Coach Van Meter has been busy sending athletes of the local high school through practice for the spring track meets and next fall's football campaign. Major emphasis has been placed on football during March.

Prospects for a winning grid team next year are bright, according to Van Meter, providing that examinations in June do not send too many boys into ineffectual Matthews, Clayton, Fox, Hayes, Miller, Jacoby, Simpson, Sudsky, Haffel, a Junior high man, and Hubert Pearce, a senior, but these men have open dates and are now booking games, according to Robert Saller, manager.

This team furnished three players to the Hard Roads League last season but these men have signed to play with Pittsburgh this year and are expected to give the team added strength.

PITTSBURGH BASEBALL TEAM ORGANIZED

Special to the Post-Dispatch. PITTSBURGH, Ill., March 25.—Pittsburgh's baseball team has organized and is now engaged in practice. The team still has open dates and is now booking games, according to Robert Saller, manager.

This team furnished three players to the Hard Roads League last season but these men have signed to play with Pittsburgh this year and are expected to give the team added strength.

Joplin After Franchise.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 25.—Rumors that Joplin, Mo., and Seminole, Okla., are seeking admission to the new class B Western Association circuit were current here today. Johnny Vann is said to be still trying to land a club for Joplin, while oil men of Seminole are reported to be interested in the proposition of securing a Western Association franchise.

Limbers up quickly after hard ride

"After several years' absence from the saddle, I took a hard horseback ride, and the next day my muscles were all tied up in hard knots. I applied Sloan's Liniment. Right away the tenseness in the muscles began to relax and in an hour or so, they felt as limber as ever."

The makers of this wonderful liniment have received many thousands of letters like this telling of the amazing relief that Sloan's gives to every kind of muscular pain.

Sloan's gives real and lasting help because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It gets at the cause. Right to the place that hurts it brings a healing stream of fresh, new blood. And stiff muscles quickly relax, and pain stops as the healing stream carries off the "fatigue poisons." Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

George Lott Is Winner Over "Big Bill" Tilden

20-Year-Old Chicago Boy Defeats Tennis King in Florida Tournery.

By the Associated Press. ORMOND BEACH, Fla., March 25.—George M. Lott Jr., 20-year-old court star of the University of Chicago, rose to superb heights here yesterday to triumph over William T. Tilden, America's ranking tennis ace, in a four set struggle, 6-3, 6-0, 6-7, 5-6, 6-3.

George Lott Is Winner Over "Big Bill" Tilden

20-Year-Old Chicago Boy Defeats Tennis King in Florida Tournery.

By the Associated Press. ORMOND BEACH, Fla., March 25.—George M. Lott Jr., 20-year-old court star of the University of Chicago, rose to superb heights here yesterday to triumph over William T. Tilden, America's ranking tennis ace, in a four set struggle, 6-3, 6-0, 6-7, 5-6, 6-3.

Playing in the finals for the singles championship of the annual Halifax tournament, both exhibited a brilliant stroking game. There were frequent long rallies, chiefly by "Big Bill" but he was unable to combat the accurate placement and cannonball service of his younger adversary in the end.

It was said to have been Lott's first victory over Tilden since they first faced each other across the net several seasons ago.

Tilden and his protegee, Sandy Weiner, also of Philadelphia, won the Halifax doubles championship by extending themselves against Lott and Fred "Pop" Baggs, New York, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3, 1-6 and 6-3.

Lott was supreme with his overhead, his volley and half-volley. Baggs helped him with the chop strokes.

Tilden was generally the master, although he lost seven straight points in the last set and Weiner came to the fore with all manner of strokes.

Trophies given by Mrs. L. R. Johnson, Kingston, N. Y., were awarded the players at the conclusion of yesterday's play by John H. Ricketson Jr., Pittsburg, president of the local tennis club.

Tilden Had Won 3 Times.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, March 25.—"I was confident the boy would do it," said George M. Lott Sr., when he received news that his 20-year-old son and namesake had at last defeated the "Old Master" Big Bill Tilden, in the finals of the Halifax tennis championship at Ormond Beach, Fla.

"George has met Tilden three times before," said Mr. Lott, "and I'm very proud to hear that at last he has won a match from the champion."

Tilden put out young Lott, a University of Chicago Junior, in the preliminaries of the national clay court championships at St. Louis in 1925, after five furious sets. Last year Tilden broke the winning streak of Lott at Cincinnati, in the tri-state tournament. A few days ago, Tilden again won in a tournament final.

Young Lott, who has a national ranking of ninth, has been Chicago champion since he was 15 and this winter won the Canadian indoor, and the Bermuda singles, doubles and mixed doubles tournaments. The Western Lawn Tennis Association ranks him as No. 2.

DELANEY WILL START WORK IN FOUR WEEKS

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 25.—Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., world's light-heavyweight champion, was operated on yesterday for the removal of a bone splinter in the thumb of his left hand.

The injury dates from Delaney's match several weeks ago at Madison Square Garden with Jim Maloney of Boston. Dr. W. G. Fralick, who performed the operation, said Delaney would be able to resume training in four weeks in preparation for outdoor matches.

Poor Trial Causes Trainer Schorr to Scratch Horse From Louisiana Derby.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 25.—Announcement was made last night that E. B. McLean's War Eagle and Floranada had been withdrawn from the $15,000 Louisiana Derby and would be shipped to Lexington, Ky., today.

War Eagle, 3-year-old son of Man O' War, who set a track record at Miami recently was only seen in one race here and in that he ran last.

Yesterday Trainer John Schorr put the colt through the mile and an eighth, and decided, after watching the run, to scratch his entry.

With War Eagle and Floranada out, the field of possible winners has been narrowed to eight horses: Boo, Fred Jr., Porridge, Peter, Torchilla, Fly Hawk, Creek Indian and Scotland.

COAST LEAGUE WILL OPEN SEASON MARCH 29

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK.—In order to avoid conflict with college football games in California next fall, the Pacific Coast League's pennant race will open March 29 and run up to Oct. 2, inclusive.

The usual schedule of 208 games has been arranged for three teams in the San Francisco district—the Seals, Missions and Oakland—Los Angeles and Hollywood, within gunshot of each other, and Portland, Seattle and Sacramento.

This long grind will be finished on the same day fixed for the last National and American League games. Yet the Pacific Coast, beginning its championship season two weeks earlier than the big circuits, is scheduled for 74 more contests.

BARNSTORMING RISKS BOXING CHAMPS' TITLES

NEW YORK.—It is getting decidedly dangerous for champions and other boxers with reputation to "tour the sticks" or go barnstorming.

Fidel La Barba and Pete Latzo, to say nothing of other stars, can testify that setups aren't what they used to be.

Latozo, touring the wide open spaces of Texas, struck a starter in Dallas, one Clyde Hull, who mauled the welterweight title holder all over the ring and won the newspaper verdict. The title was not at stake.

Bud Taylor and Canzoneri Ready For Title Bout

CHICAGO, March 25.—Bud Taylor of Terre Haute and Tony Canzoneri of New York were virtually at the bantamweight limit of 118 pounds today, and ready for their 10-round argument tomorrow night over the occupancy of Charley Phil Rosenberg's vacant throne.

In their training, Taylor appeared the slugger and Canzoneri the speedy boxer. Measurements give Taylor a couple of inches advantage in height and reach, but the New Yorker has the heavier shoulders that go with hitting power. Taylor is 23 and Canzoneri 21 years of age.

Promoter Jim Mullen has put up a diamond studded belt for the winner, who likewise will claim the bantamweight championship.

Rosenberg, the last accredited champion, was separated from his crown by both the Illinois and New York Boxing Commissions. He was to fight Taylor here last fall, but the boxing solons forced cancellation when Rosenberg failed to post a weight forfeit. Under similar conditions, the New York board took away his title, but permitted him to go ahead and pummel Bushey Graham Canzoneri also did the same to Graham, so some figure that both Bud and Tony have inherited some of the championship luster.

Latzo to Meet Joe Dundee for Title, May 24

NEW YORK, March 25.—Articles were formally signed today for a welterweight championship match between Pete Latzo of Scranton, Pa., the titleholder, and Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, to be held at the Polo Grounds, May 24.

DRINK WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Pains or Bladder is Irritated.

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day. Also take thority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the system; then the blood becomes weak; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the trouble is bad you have rheumatic twinges.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's waste, get a bottle of Epsom Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and is the same as that used in lithia, and has been used for years.

kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

Court Allows Counsel Fees in Her Separation Suit.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Supreme Court Justice Ford has awarded Mrs. Harry C. (Bud) Fisher, formerly the Countess Beaumont, $5000 counsel fees in her suit for separation from her husband, the creator of Mutt and Jeff. Mrs. Fisher recently received default judgment and $500 a week alimony from Supreme Court Justice Tierney, who later set aside the decree and reopened the case when convinced Fisher's absence was due to a misunderstanding.

Years on leg suffered after 48 years of suffering after a fall from a tree.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 10.—"I just want to let you know what your Resinol has done for me. For the first time in 48 years my leg is healed. I had tried a number of different treatments, including Electric Baths and different recommended salves. I suffered terribly at times as my work compelled me to do an hour's work a day. Several weeks ago I saw Resinol advertised and in desperation I bought a small jar of this Ointment, not believing it would do me any good. However, after applying it to my leg, I was surprised to find the ulcer was Head of 6 Brown Bros. Divorced.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 25.—Tom Brown, owner of a Chicago musical company and organizer of the Six Brown Brothers' Saxophone

Sextet, has been divorced by Mrs. Theresa Brown, to whom he was married in 1912. She charged habitual drunkenness. Judge J. P. McGorty granted her $400 a month alimony, $5000 in cash, a $10,000 insurance policy, and the custody of their 13-year-old son. New Bank at North Salem, Mo.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 25.—The Farmers' State Bank of North

Salem, in Linn County, a new depository which takes over the Farmers' Bank of North Salem, has been chartered by the State Finance Department. The new bank will be capitalized at $20,000.

French Parish Cure Arrested.
Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
ST. NAZAIRE, March 1.—The cure of a parish near St. Nazaire organized a church procession on the last Fete Dieu, contrary to the orders of the Mayor. He was arrested in Police Court and was fined 250 francs, costs. The cure appealed and refused to pay the fine. A police commissioner was ordered to arrest him. Not wishing to arrest the priest, either in church or at the vicarage, he laid him and carried him off out the knowledge of his parishioners. The priest was imprisoned two days.

CHAPTER 48.

"Ned," Madeline told her husband, "but I think I would have done so if I could have accomplished it. But how was I to go about it, Ned? Well, he gave me 24 hours to think it over, and told me I must make up my mind to go away with him or he would not only tell you, but he would see to it that it was put in the papers and would be the biggest sort of scandal imaginable."

"And you didn't tell me that night?"

"I couldn't, I tried, but I couldn't. I was going to tell you the next day, and then you know what happened."

"Yes, who killed him, dear?"

"Don't ask me, Ned. I don't know, really, and yet I fear—"

"But from now on, my girl, there's to be no shadow of a secret between us. No faintest hint of shadow, no faintest trace of reserve. So, come on, out with it."

And Madeline told him, but he couldn't believe it.

Now, had Miss Anastasia Folsom known all this, she would not have done what she did do.

She had finished her luncheon and had repaired to her room to rest and think over matters pertaining to her brother's death.

The new detective, she felt sure, was going to ferret out the truth. He hadn't told her much yet, but she knew intuitively that he would succeed in finding Garry's murderer and bring him to justice.

And to her, impelled only by mere curiosity, came Myrtle, the chambermaid.

The girl had been deeply impressed by Stone's surprise and excitement at the sight of the doll Pelton had given her, and she was deeply desirous of knowing who it was that the doll looked like and who was, therefore, Garry Folsom's best girl.

So, without much concern, she presented herself to Miss Folsom with the inevitable clean towels, and with her doll slung over her arm.

"This is the doll Mr. Pelton gave me," she confessed, for Miss Folsom was of a chatty sort when in the mood.

"Is it?" and Anastasia took the lovely doll in her hands.

And then, to Myrtle's secret delight, Miss Folsom showed much the same amazement and agitation that Stone had done.

"But only for an instant. Then she was her quiet, dignified self again."

"A beautiful doll, Myrtle. Do be careful with it, it is a very expensive one."

"Do you think it looks like anyone you know, ma'am?"

"No, of course not. Go away now, you bother me."

Myrtle went, and as she departed, Miss Folsom went to the telephone and called for Fleming Stone.

And when that gentleman presented himself, she told the story of Myrtle and the doll.

"So you noticed the resemblance, too?" Stone said, his deep eyes and his whole face somber.

"Of course. And so she was Garry's best love, and so she had some secret affair with him, and so she is the one who killed him?"

"Oh, Miss Folsom, don't go so fast," he implored.

But she was adamant.

"Fast! I'm going straight up to her room and confront her with it. Then if she is innocent there's no harm done. You may go with me or not, as you like, but I'm going and I'm going now."

And rather than have her go without him, Stone accompanied her.

They found the Barons getting ready to go down to luncheon.

Baron, seeing that the matter was of grave import, decided to have the whole thing out then and there.

"Come in," he said, as the visitors appeared. "I think you have some matters of importance to discuss."

And in that instant Fleming Stone realized that whatever the truth was about Madeline Barron, her husband knew it.

"Yes, we have," said Anastasia Folsom, who was spokesman by her own election. "And there's no use mincing matters. Mrs. Barron was acquainted with my brother in the past, although you have denied it since his death."

"I will answer for my wife," Barron said, quietly. "Yes, she was, Miss Folsom."

This took the wind slightly out of Anastasia's sails, but she went steady on.

MODISH MITZI

Sweaters Have Infinite Variety

By Jay V. Jay

"Don't you wish something would happen. Dad?" asks Mitzi evidently fed up with the day.

Came a ring at the door bell. "Boxes for Miss Mitzi," says the maid. Before she opens them notice the straight shoulder-to-shoulder neckline of her dress and the odd slanting collar.

Her sweaters arrived. She bought a number because she'll need lots to keep up with sweater fashions. She wears a square neck bow sweater with narrow stripes forming a border at the top and bottom. The matelot sweater with the round neck and stripes is popular and the sweater with the straight neckline worn under the spring suit is another good bet.

The collarless sweater worn with the pleated crepe de chine skirt is smart. The neck is bound with grosgrain ribbon. Grosgrain ribbon is also used at the sides to give a sort of bolero effect. This is worn with the classic tulle. There are others, others with porous weaves, dropstitch stripes, ombre and zigzag stripes. Other necklines, other stripes.

Mitzi pauses for a moment to let Dad regard this sweater. Dad however does not notice that it has an unusual neckline with a set-in place at the shoulder. No. Nor does he see that it is silk and wool striped. All he says is: "For you, Mitzi, variety certainly is the spice of life." Dad has a lot of circumstantial evidence backing his statement!

her husband and would have her for himself. This he told me with a leering chuckle that night he arrived, as he was dressing for dinner. So I knew the time had come when I must strike, whatever the consequences might be.

"I had no weapon, but I went for a walk and saw the auctioneers here and there, and realized I could get one of those old daggers. The white mustache I always carried around, thinking I might some day make Madeline and it might be necessary that she shouldn't recognize me. As a minor precaution I put it on, before I bought the knife, and the rest I think you all know. I have no regrets. I rid the world of a scoundrel. I am sorry, Miss Folsom, to speak thus of the brother you adored, but I knew him better than you did, and he would have ruined my girl's life had he been allowed to live."

Then Anastasia Folsom spoke.

"Ross," she said, and her voice was gentle, but it sounded full of heartbreak. "You are right. I am, perhaps, a strange woman, and I worshiped my brother. But I see now it was an imaginary man I worshiped. If he did these things to you, tell of, and I cannot doubt what I have heard, then you did right. I don't mean I am glad you killed Garry, for I loved him so, but I can see it from your point of view and I can understand what you have been through these years of watchful servitude to a man you hated. I can appreciate it all, including Mrs. Barron's agony of spirit, and I withdraw all charges and I wish the investigation stopped."

"I don't know what must be done, exactly, but you, Mr. Stone, and Mr. Barron will know how to arrange matters. Only I want Ross to go free, to be unsuspected by anyone at all. I want the police to be told that the mystery will remain forever unsolved. I want Croydon Bears exonerated, and oh, I don't know about these details, but I want them all attended to."

And Ross, with no thought of melodramatic effect, knelt down and kissed the hem of Miss Anastasia's smartly tailored frock.

THE END.

Women's Hygienic Mistakes

Being Ended—New way discards like tissue

By KLEIN & BUCKLAND Registered Nurses

BECAUSE one woman told another, and because doctors and nurses so urged, millions of women are discarding "old-time" sanitary ways for the new way called Kotex.

First, you discard Kotex as easily as tissue. No laundry, no embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads, it enables one to wear sheerest frocks and gowns without slightest fear of embarrassment. Also deodorizes, thus ending all danger of offending.

Eight in every 10 better class women employ it. Once you use it you'll never again dare the uncertainty of old ways.

Obtain at any store simply by saying "KOTEX." Box of 12 costs only a few cents. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Bankers and Others Hope to Get St. Louis Members to Change Attitude Toward Competent Official:

St. Louis business men, endeavoring to keep Allen C. Orrick at the head of the Police Board, today entered into communication with the St. Louis members of the State senate to ask for reconsideration of the vote by which the Senate yesterday rejected Gov. Baker's appointment of Orrick as a member of the Board.

group headed by Edward B. Ryan, president of the State National Bank, sent the Governor a telegram last night, promising to elect him vigorously in any course he might take. This morning he received a telephone message today from the Governor, who expressed pleasure over the "direct methods" used by the business men, and suggested that the proposition be put to a vote. The position of the local Senators, all of the Republican City Committee, caused Orrick's rejection. Senator William Moffitt, Rader, and the other members of the committee today said that he would "stand pat." The other Republican members, all of whom voted against him, were Depelbeuer, Mosier, and W. A. Brown. The latter two voted from St. Louis. Kinney and Brown, voted to confirm Orrick.

Message to Governor.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 29.—The 29th Missouri Legislature, by a vote of 70 yeas to 12 nays, has approved the resignation of Gov. Baker. Pryor did not know of their names: The telegram to the Governor said:

In view of the astounding lack of respect for your nomination of Col. Orlick as a member of the Police Board of the City of St. Louis, an organization of representative citizens, irrespective of party, is forming and will vigorously in whatever manner possible endeavor to secure a continuance of valuable services as president of the Police Board. We trust that if the Senate were informed of all the facts as to Col. Orlick's services and the attitude of the citizens of St. Louis toward him they would be glad to reconsider the adverse action

The Governor to give a re-appointment after the adjournment of the Legislature to one of the Senate has refused to do so would be unprecedented. Lawyers doubt whether it would be wise. The dissent of the Constitution, lawyers say, is that the Senate shall serve only until the Governor has had an opportunity to re-appoint them.

Mr. Baker said last evening that he had not considered the question of re-appointing to the vacant appointment to the vacant position of the Police Board. He said presently that he was in favor of the advancement of Dr. J. L. Nagson from vice president to president of the board, the vacancy being filled by vote of the board. The Governor said he
